

US Urges Laos Cooling-Off

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States pressed a strong diplomatic effort Monday — including indirect approaches to Communist China — to cool off the fighting in Laos and preserve that Southeast Asian kingdom's shaky neutrality.

State Department press officer Robert J. McCloskey said the State and Defense departments also were weighing decisions which the United States could take with other powers to keep the situation in Laos from deteriorating into renewed warfare.

Jersey Halts School Prayers

TRENTON, N.J. (AP) — In just two sentences, the New Jersey Supreme Court ruled Monday that the state's law requiring Bible reading and allowing the Lord's Prayer in schools was unconstitutional.

In a 7-0 decision, the court struck down the Hawthorne School Board's attempt to get around a U. S. Supreme Court decision of a year ago.

The U. S. high court ruled that laws in Maryland and Pennsylvania requiring Bible reading and recitation of the Lord's Prayer in public schools violated the principle of church-state separation.

Lutherans Back Civil Rights

BUCK HILL FALLS, Pa. (AP) — The Eastern Pennsylvania Synod of the Lutheran Church in America, at the opening meeting of its convention here Monday, approved a major policy statement of the Synod's position on civil rights.

The statement lists steps by which individual congregations can "express their witness to the community" on this issue.

Those steps include: Helping congregations in changing communities face their new responsibilities; encouraging all congregations to seek Negroes in their communities for membership; active concern by pastors and congregations for the guarantee of civil rights for all citizens; the exercise of influence to bring peaceful change, as housing is integrated.

Cops Chaperone At Red Rally

BERLIN (AP) — Under the eyes of thousands of armed police the Communist youth festival in East Berlin ended Monday night with a mammoth rally less than a mile from the Red wall dividing Berlin.

The Marx Engels Platz and neighboring streets were packed with hundreds of thousands of youths brought to East Berlin for a three-day propaganda festival.

Uniformed police were scattered throughout the crowd.

There were extra guards on duty along the wall to prevent escapes.

Ax-Slayer Strikes At Sea

HONOLULU (AP) — The ax-slashing at sea of a Norwegian captain derailed a Liberian-registered freighter and her multinational crew to Honolulu on Monday.

The 433-foot Pomona, carrying 9,500 tons of scrap metal from Los Angeles to Formosa, arrived with flags at half-mast.

An escorting Coast Guard cutter kept circling the freighter to make certain none of the 29 crewmen jumped overboard.

Exiles Keep Citizenship

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court ruled 5-3 Monday that a naturalized citizen may not be stripped of citizenship merely because he lives abroad for several years.

No Quick End To Talkathon

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., said Monday he does not believe it will be possible to shut off the Southern talk blocking the civil rights bill until after the June 2 California primary election.

Trading Lags On Market

NEW YORK (AP) — Buying interest was slight and the stock market took a loss Monday as trading lagged.

Volume fell to 4.61 million shares from 5.06 million in Friday's rising market.

The Dow Jones Industrial average sank 4.92 to 821.31.

LBJ Wants $125 Million More For Viet Nam War

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson asked Congress on Monday to provide an added $125 million to strengthen the Viet Nam war effort and the House Foreign Affairs Committee quickly called a top-level hearing on the request.

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, Secretary of State Dean Rusk, Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff and David E. Bell, foreign aid director, were called to testify Tuesday at a closed committee hearing.

The additional $125 million — $70 million for more economic aid and $55 million for military assistance — would be added to the administration's $3.4-billion foreign aid measure now before the committee. The new request represents an increase of about 25 per cent in the present annual Viet Nam spending rate of $500 million.

E-Burg Approves $435,000 Issue

EAST STROUDSBURG — An ordinance allowing East Stroudsburg Council to float a $435,000 bond issue to cover the cost of the proposed water filtration plant in Smithfield Twp. was approved last night by the council.

In other action council approved two ordinances presented by the state. The new ordinances allow King and Prospect Streets to be resurfaced. Both streets are state highways within the borough.

Rallies Mark Integration Anniversary

NEW YORK (AP) — Sporadic civil rights demonstrations Monday marked observance of the 10th anniversary of the Supreme Court decision against racial segregation in the nation's public schools. Highlight of a statewide program in New York was a march on City Hall in Manhattan.

There were no reports of disorder. A holiday mood prevailed in some New York City schools that played host to invited Negro children from Harlem schools.

School boycotts cut attendance by as much as 50 per cent in Mount Vernon, N.Y., adjoining New York City, and 19 per cent in Buffalo. Elsewhere in New York State, there were demonstrations at Newburgh, Albany, Utica, Rochester, Lockport, Amityville and Port Chester.

Lodge Team Backs Rocky In California Primary

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Backers of Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge threw their support Monday to New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller in the June 2 California primary.

But they emphasized that they did so only in the hope of ultimately winning for Lodge the Republican presidential nomination.

They denied it was a "stop-Goldwater" move.

But Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., campaigning here for the nomination, said that's what it is, and "I don't think it will work."

The announcement from the California Draft Lodge for President Committee followed Rockefeller's upset win over the South Viet Nam ambassador in last Friday's Oregon primary, in which Goldwater ran third. California's primary now looms as a crucial test between the Arizona senator and the New York Governor.

No Write-Ins

Lodge is not on the California ballot and write-ins are not permitted.

The Lodge group said in a news conference statement: "We will work to mobilize the substantial Lodge support that exists in California and then ask these Lodge supporters to vote for the delegate state of Nelson Rockefeller."

In New York City, Rockefeller said: "I am very pleased to have the support of the leaders. I think the trend already had set in after the Oregon primary when many of the Lodge people came over. Any additional help for my candidacy is good. I want to say again I have made no deals, nor will I make any."

Goldwater had this to say: "I forecast this about three weeks ago. If I were in the Democratic party, giving the Republicans advice on how to break up the Republican party, that's exactly the advice I would give."

"Stop Goldwater"

"It's a 'stop Goldwater' movement. That's all it is. I don't think it will work. It will have an effect, but it will take time to analyze."

"I can't say how much Lodge support there is in California. I know it's here. Lodge is now dead as far as the convention is concerned."

Lollipop-Giving Doctors Draw Dentist's Blast

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Washington dentist is pleading with physicians to lay off those waiting-room lollipops. He says they're playing hob with the moppets' teeth.

Dr. Hector E. Castro, declaring "lollipopmania" seems to trip so many in the medical field," complained: "As a dentist, I shudder every time I think about this sweets problem."

Castro, chairman of the District of Columbia Dental Society's Committee on Public Relations, drilled away at the physicians in an editorial published in a medical magazine — the Medical Annals of the District of Columbia Medical Society.

"Please—no more lollipops," was his title.

He said: "It is indeed heart-breaking to restore a child's mouth to a healthy condition only to find six months or a year later that sweets have caused caries to destroy the work which was so painstakingly placed in the mouth."

Red Horde Attacks In Laos, Neutralist Army Retreats

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP)—Pro-Communist Pathet Lao forces pushed an all-out offensive Monday to seize sole control of the Plaine des Jarres region and, with it, northern Laos. The neutralist army was thrown into retreat.

Thousands of Red troops, striking at dawn behind a 24-hour artillery pounding, advanced on a front several miles wide on the eastern fringe of the strategic, barren plateau 110 miles northeast of Vientiane. Pathet Lao forces overran the command post of neutralist

Gen. Kong Le at Muong Phan, and drove neutralist defenders off Phou Kheng Hill about seven miles to the northeast. There was no word on casualties.

Kong Le retreated just before the mountain village of Muong Phan fell to the Communists.

Western military observers, who flew to the battle zone to evacuate wounded and women and children, said Kong Le's new hilltop command post at Ban Khong, a few miles southwest of Muong Phan, also was under attack. They said it was being evacuated and its fall was only a matter of hours.

His 7,000-man army, outnumbered about 4-1 by the Reds, was strung out on a 22-mile semicircle of high ground running north and south along the eastern edge of the plateau.

With the fall of Muong Phan and Phou Kheng Hill to the north, as well as several other high-ground positions in that area, together with Kong Le's retreat to the south, it appeared that the neutralist army may have been divided.

The Pathet Lao had made small advances to get sole sway over the area, which is strategically important because of the three roads crossing it. Two lead to Communist North Vietnam and the other to Vientiane and the remainder of Laos.

Pathet Lao troops, who already control two-thirds of Laos' 90,000 square miles of mostly mountainous jungles, want the key region to cement their hold on northern Laos. It would also give them easy access to neighboring pro-Western Thailand.

Neutralist Premier Souvanna Phouma, discussing the military situation at a news conference, appeared worried and upset.

"We have been submerged by the number of Communists," he declared.

Souvanna lashed out at his half-brother, Prince Souphanouvong, leader of the Pathet Lao, accusing him of ordering "this premeditated general offensive with the help of Viet Minh — North Vietnamese — Communists."

Invasion Threats Spark Cuban Jitters

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Refugees who just arrived from Cuba reported extensive troop movements there as indications of impending exile incursions against the Fidel Castro regime mounted Monday.

"Invasion jitters have made the Communists desperate," said Ramon Espino, one of 48 fugitives from Cuba arriving by small boats over the weekend.

Espino, from Cardenas in Matanzas Province, east of Havana, added: "We saw continuous streams of trucks filled with troops on the highways, apparently en route to the coasts and mountains. Also tanks and cannon."

The refugee added: "We heard that Cuba's prisons and concentration camps are overflowing."

Cuban radio stations, normally silent during the night, went on a 24-hour basis. An official network of government offices and armed forces centers operated on an emergency basis. Radio Progreso, a major Havana station, also operated around the clock.

Exiles heard this mysterious shortwave broadcast "The little tree is in the pasture Indolence"

Some speculated this might be a message to the Cuban underground that Manuel Ray landed in Cuba. They pointed out a twig is the emblem of the Revolution headed by Ray Castro's former underground leader. Junta headquarters said they had no news about any Ray landing, but he was reported to have left Puerto Rico, his exile home.

Exiles awaited news of an expected landing of another revolutionary leader, Maj. Eloy Gutierrez Menoyo, who defected after helping Castro oust President Fulgencio Batista in 1959.

Dr. Armando Fleites, secretary-general of the Second National Front of Escambray, Alpha 66 and People's Revolutionary Movement, an alliance sponsoring Menoyo, said: "We cannot mention dates as to his expected landing. Results speak louder than words. There will be results. Wait."

Who Won Demo Primary? High Court May Decide

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Justice Michael A. Musmanno stretched his lead slightly Monday in his fight to become the Democratic nominee for U. S. Senator as Genevieve Blatt's supporters went into court to contest the primary election result, should Musmanno be declared the winner.

The primary was three weeks ago, and with over 920,000 votes counted there still is no winner — and probably won't be until the state Supreme Court decides the legality of over 1,000 absentee ballots.

Musmanno, who has taken a leave of absence from the state's highest tribunal in his quest for the senatorial nomination, widened his lead to 163 Monday on the basis of nearly complete official returns tabulated by The Associated Press.

He started the day ahead by 147, increased it to 189 at one point then dropped back to 163 with the certification by the State Election Bureau of the votes in 32 counties. The big change was a gain of 30 votes by Miss Blatt in Northumberland County.

The AP figures include the America's two wire services yesterday disagreed on who was ahead in the Blatt-Musmanno race for the Democratic nod for U. S. Senate.

The Associated Press had Supreme Court Justice Michael Musmanno ahead by 163 votes. The AP says it has rechecked its figures.

The United Press International had Genevieve Blatt, secretary of Internal Affairs ahead by 699 votes.

Both wire services in stories concerning the close race have used the term "cliff-hanger."

complete vote, with absentees, from 62 counties.

The unofficial vote, plus unchallenged absentee ballots, are counted from Philadelphia, Lackawanna, Washington, Lawrence and Somerset counties.

Philip Kalodner, a Philadelphia attorney supporting the state secretary of Internal Affairs, filed a petition Monday in Dauphin County Court challenging the nomination of Musmanno, should his election be certified by the state board.

The petition, filed to meet the legal requirement that an attack on an election must be made within 20 days after the balloting, was approved by the five judges of the court. It claimed "various irregularities" in Philadelphia, Lackawanna and Fayette counties.

Ferdinand B. Schettelle, another Philadelphia attorney who has carried the burden of the legal battle in contesting over 500 absentee ballots in the state's biggest city, said he doesn't care how long the official counting takes as long as the count is accurate.

"I'm only interested in a fair shake," Schettelle said.

Dauphin Court Accepts Blatt Challenge If Musmanno Wins

HARRISBURG (AP) — Dauphin County Court Monday accepted a possible challenge to the election of Justice Michael A. Musmanno, if the official returns show him to be the winner of the Democratic nomination for U. S. Senator.

The action was filed by attorneys for Miss Genevieve Blatt, state secretary of internal affairs, who opposed Musmanno for the nomination in the April 28 primary elections.

On the basis of alleged voting irregularities cited by the petition, the court was asked to declare Miss Blatt the winner.

Musmanno, a state Supreme Court justice, is leading Miss Blatt by 163 votes, based on complete figures from 62 counties and unofficial returns from five other counties.

The court agreed to accept Miss Blatt's contingency challenge because this was the last day for filing protests stemming from the primary elections.

It also is the last day for certifying official results to the State Elections Bureau, but the law is not mandatory and disputes have held up the certification in some counties.

Miss Blatt's petition was filed by attorneys Patrick Kerwin of Harrisburg and Philip P. Kalodner of Philadelphia. Kerwin was treasurer of Miss Blatt's campaign committee.

The petition said that if the Supreme Court justice is ultimately certified the winner "the election will have been illegal, in that Michael A. Musmanno will have won by virtue of a purality created by illegal ballots cast, illegal recording of the vote by various district election boards and illegal canvassing and computation of the vote by various county boards of elections."

The petition said the alleged irregularities occurred in Philadelphia, Lackawanna and Fayette counties.

President Judge Walter R. Sohn of Dauphin County Court, said if the action is pursued, which it presumably will be if Musmanno is certified the winner, a panel of five judges would hear arguments in the case. Three of the judges, he said, would come from Dauphin

County and two from neighboring Cumberland and Perry counties.

Judge Sohn said attorneys for Miss Blatt were ordered to post a $3,000 bond by next Saturday to cover possible court costs.

Attached to the Blatt petition were signatures of 150 poll watchers attesting to the alleged voting irregularities.

The petition asked the court, in the event Musmanno is certified the winner, to:

— Declare invalid certain absentee ballots in Philadelphia.

— Order the canvassing and recomputation of all other absentee ballots in Philadelphia to determine the correctness of the manner in which they were made out and computed.

— Order invalid all absentee ballots canvassed and computed in Fayette County.

— Order the opening of a voting machine in Philadelphia and Lackawanna County and recompute all votes.

— Order the county boards of election and registration commissions in Philadelphia and Lackawanna County to compare the signatures of the voters' certificates signed in the primary with the voters' permanent registration affidavits.

— Order additional opening of voting machines and ballot boxes, additional canvassing and recomputation of absentee ballots and additional comparisons in other counties in which an investigation may indicate irregularities.

The petition asked the court, in the event Musmanno is certified the winner, to:

— Order the canvassing and recomputation of all other absentee ballots in Philadelphia to determine the correctness of the manner in which they were made out and computed.

Teachers Walk Out In Utah

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah (AP)—Virtually all of Utah's public schools opened Monday, but many quickly closed as most of the state's 10,000 teachers began a two-day walkout.

Some districts — mostly in rural areas away from Salt Lake City — reported near-normal operations. But more typical was the situation at a high school in the Salt Lake City suburbs, where 2,000 students sat in the auditorium watching a Walt Disney cartoon because there were no teachers.

The walkout was called by the Utah Education Association, seeking national support in its drive for more financial aid. It was watched closely by discontented teachers in other areas, who expected it might set a pattern of protest.

The UEA says it represents 96 per cent of Utah public school teachers.

In East St. Louis, Ill., union teachers staged a strike for higher salaries. Only 3,000 of 21,000 students and 130 of 750 teachers showed up.

Utah teacher salaries now range from $4,400 to $7,000 per year, with the average $5,900.

At the Utah Capitol, Gov. George D. Clyde, whose refusal to call a special legislative session to appropriate more money triggered the teachers' action, met a delegation of protesting high school students.

The students marched through the Capitol, demonstrating their support of the teachers' demands.

The West High students soon were joined by others in the Salt Lake County area. And 100 on the Capitol steps. Another 50 were seated on the floor outside the governor's office.

Baker Hurt Senate Image Report Says

WASHINGTON (AP)—A draft report on the Bobby Baker probe says the Senate has suffered heavily in respect and prestige and urges that senators and their employees be made subject to tight new ethical safeguards.

The report says that Baker, while a Senate employee, was guilty of gross improprieties and fraudulent practices but holds he was not legally guilty of conflict of interest.

Three fundamental principles are recommended as the basis for legislation or regulations in the aftermath of the disclosure of Baker's wheeling and dealing as secretary to the Senate's Democratic majority:

1. A system of compulsory public disclosure of the identity of the financial interests of all senators, officers and employees.
2. Compulsory prohibition of senators, officers and employees, all associations by senators, officers and employees with persons and organizations outside the Senate who are engaged in conducting business with the government or have business before the government officers or agents.
3. A requirement by the Senate, as a matter of permanent policy, that all senators respond to requests from any of its committees to appear and testify about any knowledge they have of a subject under investigation.

Blue Cross Studies Costs

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—In cooperation with certain companies and unions, the Blue Cross has started a program of studying selected hospital cases with a hope of reducing costs, it was announced Monday.

Under the plan, Blue Cross specialists study the records of each member-patient, day by day, to determine whether he could have been discharged earlier or perhaps treated outside a hospital.

Thomas F. Manley, president of the Associated Hospital Service of Philadelphia said, "To the best of our knowledge, we are the only Blue Cross plan in the country exploring this promising track."

So far, the plan applies to 63,000 working men and women, and their dependents, associated with 161 company or union groups, he added.

Needy Warned To Pay Rent

HARRISBURG (AP)—Public Welfare Secretary Arlin M. Adams advised relief recipients Monday to make certain they pass on their rental allowances to their landlords.

Adams said it had come to his attention that some recipients in Philadelphia and Delaware counties were improperly withholding their rent payments because of a misunderstanding of a recent ruling of his department on rents.

"That regulation is concerned with cases in which the department withholds rent allowances when county board of assistance have been notified by appropriate authorities that property is in violation of state or local housing laws," Adams said.

"The policy does not authorize or recommend withholding action by recipients themselves. Recipients who refuse to pay their rent, do so at their own risk."

"A recipient receiving a rent allowance who fails to pay his rent may have his rent allowance discontinued with a consequent reduction in his public assistance grant."

Scott Seeks To Better Spanish

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Hugh Scott, R-Pa., readily concedes that his Spanish isn't perfect.

In fact, he's inviting constituents to correct a recent talk he made in Spanish when members of the Argentine Congress visited the Senate.

He's even offering a prize to the first student who submits a correct version of the Spanish speech he thought he made.

Scott, in a letter to constituents, reprinted the version which appeared in the Congressional Record, together with remarks apologizing for any mistakes of grammar he may have made.

The he challenged: "Correct my Spanish. The first correct version — which will be matched against a correction provided by the Library of Congress — will receive a prize."

He didn't specify the prize.

GOP Incumbents Bow Out Of Race

HARRISBURG (AP)—The Republican state organization apparently will have to recruit two new representatives to the national committee because the incumbents say they will not seek new terms.

The incumbents, Robert L. Johnson of Wyomissing and Gaynelle Jackson of Butler, also said Saturday they will not attend the GOP national convention because the state committee did not slate them as delegates.

Both were named as alternate delegates, but both declined to serve in that role.

"It has been traditional for the state members of the national committee to attend the convention as delegates," said Mrs. Dixon, national committeewoman since 1956.

"After all, the national committee stages the convention and I am taking this position in an attempt to insure representation for the Republican women as delegates."

Youth Unit Expanded

HARRISBURG (AP)—Five more members have been appointed to the committee on children and youth by Arlin M. Adams, secretary of public welfare. They are Mrs. Leroy Fisher, Berwyn; Mrs. Kenneth S. Bradley, Lock Haven; Mrs. Paul E. Banks, Swarthmore; Frances A. Chaffin, Harrisburg; and James R. Smith, Philadelphia.

Hectic World In Short

Traffic moves more freely and with fewer mishaps if the rules are obeyed.

Everyone knows this. But the Italians want to prove it. So in Bari Italy, forty eight auto drivers are going to take two turns this week crossing each other at a downtown street intersection, once the right way and once the wrong. Police will be looking on studiously.

The first time all 48 drivers will make the crossing obeying all traffic rules and rights of way. Police will time them to see how long it takes.

Then they'll all battle their way through the intersection a second time, free-for-all driving, no rules, each man for himself.

Police will time that, too — and keep track of how many fenders are dented.

There's nothing like casual elections and campaigns. The East Katanga provincial government pushed back elections scheduled for this week until May 24.

No one seemed to mind much.

Reason? The government wanted "to give candidates more time to prepare their electoral campaign."

The lion-taming act became the real thing recently in Sicily.

Four lions broke from their cages at a circus.

One lion entered the hall of a factory; another prowled about a building under construction and two stalked into a workshop.

The circus lion tamer Rita Florian, drove the lions back into their cages while a thousand persons looked on from places of safety.

While Rita was at work, police had her covered with rifles and pistols... but the protection didn't take away from the thrill of the act.

For 500 years, the Cathedral of Pozzuoli, remained the citadel for an inextinguishable value of work of art.

This weekend, fire swept the old cathedral; the great medieval dome collapsed; the art destroyed.

The church was built over the ruins of a pagan temple to Jove.

And now the cathedral is in ruins too.

Wallace's Chances Slim In Maryland

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP)—Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace, hunting Yankee votes in the third battle of his campaign against President Johnson, clashes with favorite son Sen. Daniel B. Brewster in Maryland's presidential primary Tuesday.

State Democratic Chairman Harry Troth Gross conceded Wallace 25 to 30 per cent of the Maryland vote — but added he doesn't think the Alabama governor stands a chance of winning.

Some Democratic leaders fear Wallace, who followed his Midwestern campaign pattern with a harsh and hectic attack on Johnson's civil rights bill, could capture his first primary victory. But they were not talking publicly.

Gross said he based his prediction "on the experience of Wisconsin and Indiana," where Wallace made his first two stands against favorite-son underestimates for Johnson.

Wallace said only that he hoped for "a significant vote." He got 29.8 per cent of the Democratic vote in the Indiana primary and 33.7 per cent in Wisconsin.

Maryland, a state that hovered on the brink of secession during the Civil War, has been torn for years by racial strife and the struggle over states and Johnson's civil rights bill.

Scranton Urges Stronger States, Less U.S. Control

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Gov. Scranton said Monday he favors stronger state governments and less power placed in the hands of federal officials.

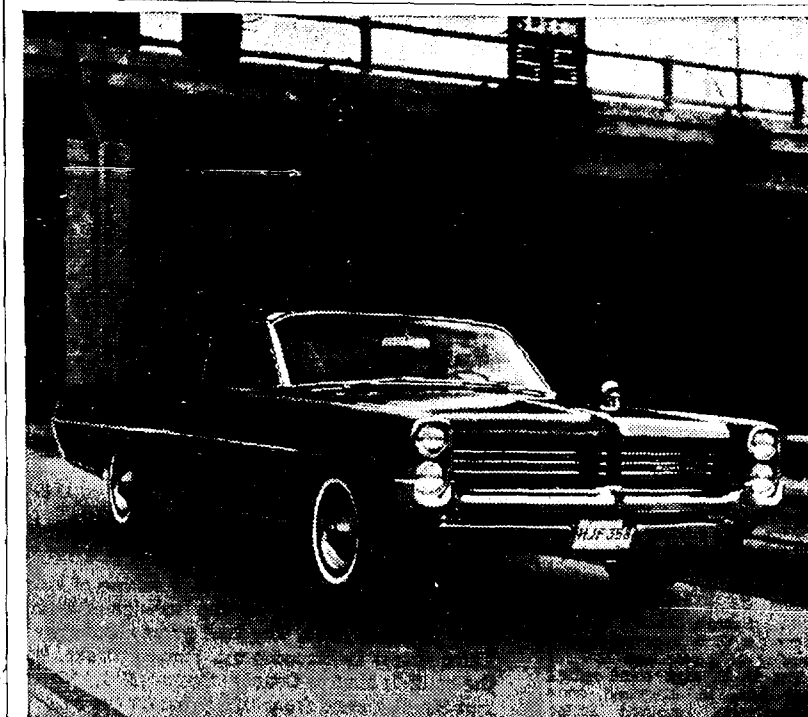

Scranton told 2,700 graduates of the University of Pennsylvania that Congress should consider appropriating funds for domestic needs and permitting state and local governments to administer them.

"The states are unique among the American levels of government," said Scranton, who was awarded an honorary degree of doctor of laws. "They are big enough to take a broad view of things, but small enough to respond to real problems in a way more intimate and effective than the sprawling federal government can ever hope to duplicate."

Scranton, frequently mentioned as a possible Republican presidential candidate but who has said he doesn't want the nomination, said the nation's governmental and political system grows as the population grows.

"This requires more governmental vitality, strength and freedom," he said, "less bu-reocracy on top with more effectiveness at the lower levels of government. Other honorary degrees were conferred upon Dr. Marvin Wachman, president of Lincoln University; J. Commissioners Levy Tax Assessments On 4 Camps

STROUDSBURG — The Monroe County Commissioners heard six tax cases yesterday — they exonerated one camp, levied tax assessments on four camps and will review a private tax appeal.

The commissioners — Stanley Rader, Stuart Pipher, and John Price — sat with chief assessor C. A. Neuman, deputy assessors Robert Stem and Ken Erickson, solicitor Russell Hensley and attorneys Leo Achterman and John Pentz.

Attorneys Achterman and Pentz have been retained by Mervine to help settle the assessments being levied on the camps. Achterman was the solicitor of the previous board of commissioners and was familiar with the situation.

Little Flower Camp
Little Flower Camp in Tobyhanna was exonerated from paying any taxes. Representatives from the camp had appeared before the previous board and were not required to make an appearance.

Neuman said that the camp contained only 48 acres and served an average of 280 children per week. Considering the high number of children per acre, the board felt that all the land was in use.

Assessments of camps is dependent upon a law passed last year saying that any land not used directly for the purposes of the camp, or in competitive with private business, may be taxed.

Camp Kirkwood
Rev. Glenn Catlin, Rev. William Guenther, and attorney W. Joseph Harrison of the Philadelphia bar appeared for Camp Kirkwood, owned by the Presbytery of Philadelphia Corp.

The camp, near Bartonsville, contains 152 acres. Neuman decided that 20 were being used and 132 would be taxed. Including buildings, the total value of the property came to $43,000 market value—which is $15,000 assessed value.

Atty. Achterman said, "In my opinion, this is not a true camp operation. The camp phase of it is extremely limited."

In 1962, campers paid $5,000 to attend the camp, and the $10,000, but there are buildings available for rent.

"The owners should bring themselves in line with Camp Brainerd in Snyder'sville which voluntarily offered to pay taxes. It too is a Presbyterian camp."

Atty. Harrison, of the Philadelphia Presbytery, said, "The presbytery is quite cognizant of the problem of not bearing a fair share of the load."

"However, until the legislature passes a uniform exemption law, we feel we should not have to agree to assessment. We feel that the camp is truly a camp, and not a retreat, as is Camp Brainerd."

"We have no power from the presbytery to initiate a voluntary tax—thus we will stick to the point that we should not be taxed until taxation is uniform."

It was then shown by Achterman that in 1963, only 220 campers used the facility over a 10-week period, giving a total income of $5,000 from the campers including weekend conference groups.

The board affirmed the denial the camp should be assessed for the amount that the assessor had set, including a caretaker's room.

Camp Massad
Representatives of Camp Massad in Tannersville had made an appeal to the previous board, when the decision was made to deny the appeal.

The board affirmed the denial and will notify the camp of the action.

Stillwater Lake Boy Scout Camp
A large group of representatives from the Bethlehem Area Boy Scouts of America argued the assessment of the 1,300-acre (six square miles) camp at Stillwater Lake near Tobyhanna.

In Tobyhanna Twp., a $700 value was placed on land and $1,000 on buildings. In Coolbaugh Twp., 1,058 acres was valued at $40 per acre and $4 acres of the 200-acre lake was valued at $300 per acre.

A stream was valued at $1,379. Total assessment for the Coolbaugh land came to $31,450, and total assessment for the Tobyhanna tract came to $1,700. The total market value was $89,878, and the total assessed value came to $33,150.

A building housing the caretaker was compromised downward from $2,700 to $1,000, after it was determined that the caretaker only used one room, rather than all seven.

The attorney for the group representing the camp said that he wanted a reconsideration of the $40 per acre price, calling it too high.

Neuman pointed out that some lots at Stillwater Lake sell for as high as $8,500 for two thirds of an acre.

After this the attorney said that the Boy Scout council wants to be good citizens in Monroe County, but that it wanted the taxation to be equitable to all.

Samuel Rosen
In the only private individual case, Samuel Rosen of Design Techniques three miles west of Stroudsburg said that his total value of $101,740 was too high.

Erickson pointed out that the place had about 10 buildings and 49.73 acres of land.

Russell Mervine suggested the board personally look over the property.

If the board reviews the property, it can either lower the assessment or raise it, as it sees fit.

Camp Innisfree
Representatives of Camp Innisfree of Henryville, run by the Central Montgomery Girl Scouts Council, Inc., of Norristown, heard the board follow Neuman's recommendation that an assessment of $800 be placed on the property.

Of the camp's 91.7-acre total property, 21.7 acres were thought to be in use, and the other 70 were taxed and had a value of $2,800 set upon it.

This figure was reduced to $2,300 because the camp is situated along a dirt road—thus the assessed value of $800.

One representative said that the council couldn't argue with the assessment, but she hoped it wasn't catching.

Bird-Banding Talk Set For MORA
STROUDSBURG — The MORA Club of the Stroudsburgs will see a presentation on ornithology Wednesday.

The speaker, acquainted with northern and southern bird passages, will be George W. Collins of Stillwater and Florida. He works for the Fish and Wildlife service of the Dept. of the Interior.

He will speak on the ways bird-banding can aid conservationists.

He has banded over 2,500 birds in Stillwater and Florida over the past two years.

Octogenarian John W. Shafter, corresponding secretary, was honored on his birthday by the club.

Wind Gap Man Fined $50
WIND GAP — Charles P. Buskirk, 30, of West Center Street, Wind Gap, was fined $50 and costs by Justice of the Peace Paul Mesinger, of Wind Gap, RD 1, over the weekend after he pleaded guilty to disorderly conduct.

Buskirk was arrested about 9:15 p.m. by Bushkill Twp. Police Chief Thomas C. Nottle. Nottle said Buskirk disturbed two young couples in a car in the Jacobburg area.

Car Fire Extinguished
STROUDSBURG — Stroudsburg Volunteer firemen were called at 6:30 p.m. yesterday to douse a car fire at the intersection of Broad and Clairmont Ave. in South Stroudsburg.

Nelson Lightner Jr., Stroudsburg fire chief said the fire of intense heat caused heavy damage to the car. The car was owned by Victor Haney.

The fire was probably started by excessive gas around the car's carburetor, said chief Lightner. Firemen were on the scene 30 minutes.

M-E, Union Talks Off; Strike On

EASTON — Wage negotiations between the Utility 9 System Council of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers and the Metropolitan Edison Co. broke down yesterday.

The International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers (I. B. E. W.) notified the Metropolitan Edison Co. it intends to strike the firm as of midnight last night.

The strike notice in the wage dispute was served by Ralph L. Crane, council president.

The council represents 1,333 workers in five locals. The local unions are 563 in Middletown; 603 in Easton; 803 in Reading; 1261 in York; and 1482 in Lebanon.

Gordon M. Freeman, president of the I. B. E. W., has sanctioned the strike. Included in the 15 day unsuccessful wage negotiation meetings were the efforts of federal and state mediators.

Metropolitan Edison, a subsidiary of General Public Utility Corp., provides power for residents in parts of South Central and Eastern Pennsylvania.

This area includes parts of Stroudsburg; Marshalls Creek; Saylorsburg; Dingmans Ferry; and Bushkill Falls. The utility also serves several large area industrial consumers of electricity.

No Disruption Seen
Theodore R. Henning, district manager of the Metropolitan Edison Co. said, "If the I.B.E.W. does strike we expect to maintain full electrical service. There will be no disruption of service here as far as Metropolitan Edison Co. is concerned."

Local YMCA Home Camp Under Study
STROUDSBURG — The YMCA Stay-at-Home Camp program is undergoing a careful study before its continuance. The problem facing the staff is whether or not the camp is a big enough community need to make its continuance feasible.

The camp is designed for youngsters between the ages of 5 to 7 and its purpose is to provide youngsters with an introduction to a camping experience.

The Stay-at-Home program is conducted at the "Y" in Stroudsburg from approximately 9:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. using such "Y" facilities as the pool, recreation room, gym and playground.

In the past the boys and girls have had a trip once a week but this would depend upon a large enrollment. Bus service in the morning is also available.

The YMCA personnel are registering interested parents to make their desires known, by calling the "Y" immediately.

Officials said by doing this the "Y" can better judge the expected enrollment and begin to plan the program and leadership.

David Naylor's Rites Wednesday

Resolution Lauds Depot's Services

TOBYHANNA — Pennsylvania's House of Representatives has commended the Tobyhanna Army Depot for its "economic, civic and humane services . . . to the community, state and nation."

The commendation, adopted last week in Harrisburg, is in the form of a resolution introduced jointly by three Representatives — Van D. Yetter Jr., of Monroe County, J. Russell Eschback of Pike County, and Arthur J. Wall of Wayne County.

Signed by W. Stuart Helm, Speaker of the House, and R. P. Stimmel, chief clerk, it was presented yesterday at the depot by Rep. Yetter to Col. M. J. Reichel, commanding officer of TAD.

In part the resolution states, "The Tobyhanna Army Depot, activated on Feb. 1, 1953, has become a great financial boon to northeastern Pennsylvania, a hard pressed economic area. In the 11 years of its existence, the depot had generated more than $150,000,000 in payroll and local purchases."

"Each year the depot conducts three charity drives: United Funds or Community Chest; local chapters of National Health Agencies, and Federal Service Joint Crusade; Operation Santa Claus for ten area orphanages."

"The Red Cross Bloodmobile makes two stops at the depot each year. In 19 semi-annual drives since 1954, soldiers and civilians have donated almost 10,000 pints of blood . . .

"Two emergencies of disaster proportions have confronted TAD. On Aug. 17, 1955, Hurricane Diane . . . and on Feb. 14 and 15, 1958, a 26-inch snow-fall."

Also for its activity in celebrating Armed Forces Week.

4-District Cooperation

One of the arguments of those who have supported reorganization of Monroe County school districts into four rather than one district is that the four districts are free and able to cooperate in many areas.

While we have supported the four-district plan as the most practical and economical plan of reorganization with the present school population, we find the four district cooperation argument unconvincing because it simply hasn't taken place, except in a few minor areas.

Now, while the battle is raging over county school district reorganization, two major areas of possible cooperation are under discussion.

One is the possibility of building a county athletic stadium bigger than any one school can afford.

Another is the possibility of consolidating industrial arts, home economics, and vocational education programs, either in a central vocational education high school or by specializing in one area at each high school.

In both cases—athletics and vocational or home economic education—each school district is spending vast sums of money on facilities for which the other schools are spending equally large sums of money.

Expensive duplication is the result. Whether it can be eliminated by co-operation is not a simple question. The answer is not necessarily yes.

But the taxpayers of each of the four school districts have a right to know that the possibility of economy in co-operation has been explored.

A Junior Chamber of Commerce committee of school directors, athletic directors and coaches and school administrators has been formed to study the feasibility of a county athletic stadium.

If by pooling funds, the four districts could build a workable county stadium at lower cost to each district than each will eventually spend on improved athletic facilities for itself, then such a stadium could justify itself in dollars and cents saved.

The same principle should be applied to the purchase of expensive vocational education and home economics equipment.

Divisive forces are strong in this county. Most school administrators, directors and taxpayers take great pride in their separate, local school systems. That is good and understandable, up to a point.

But it should not blind us to the possibilities of economy through cooperation.

$425,000 Tourist Promotion

Last week's Saturday Evening Post was fattened considerably by a special advertising supplement explaining in too much detail the tourist attractions of Pennsylvania.

It was sponsored by the "100,000 Pennsylvanians"—a committee of leading Pennsylvania businessmen dedicated to attracting more business, industry and tourists to this state.

And it was advertised by the Saturday Evening Post as the biggest special advertising supplement ever run in a magazine.

That it was. And it cost about $425,000, with $300,000 donated by the $100,000 Pennsylvanians and $125,000 by the State of Pennsylvania.

It was, to put it mildly, a very expensive promotion with limited circulation in editions of the magazine circulated in Eastern states surrounding Pennsylvania.

The layout of the supplement was so cluttered with minute detail that it was very hard to read or enjoy. Many of the pictures were so "artistic" that they were not informative.

And the girl beckoning tourists to the Pocono Honeymoon paradise looked like an Indian Queen, but was framed inexplicably by a Pennsylvania Dutch-style frame.

The Pocono Mountains need all the national publicity they can get, and we shouldn't look a gift horse in the mouth, but this special state-sponsored supplement was badly designed, circulated in a much too limited way, and far too expensive.

In sharp contrast to this unattractive Saturday Evening Post block-buster stands the attractive and well prepared Pocono Mountain supplement in the New York Times Sunday edition April 26.

Photographed, written and produced by a Stroudsburg advertising agency, at considerably less cost (about $70,000), and paid for by Pocono Mountain businesses, the New York Times supplement reached almost as many readers for one-sixth the cost.

The taxpayers of Pennsylvania and the "100,000 Pennsylvanians" paid a lot more for a lot less advertising impact.

Comment Of The Day

"I pledge from the depths of my heart and conscience that as President of this nation I would consider it my foremost duty to keep the peace and to keep freedom at the same time."

—Senator Barry Goldwater answering charges that he would recklessly risk war if elected President.

Slow Burn Case

WASHINGTON — Senator Clifford P. Case, of New Jersey, is exhorting all colleagues who had underhand, or under-table, dealings with former Secretary to the Senate Majority Bobby Baker to rush in and confess their guilt. Let us hope none of the eminent lawmakers will be trampled in the stampede.

If there's anything a Senator likes better than openly confessing a transgression, it's openly confessing two transgressions.

It's a wonder nobody ever thought before of such a simple and direct method of getting the real lowdown on the extent of Baker's machinations as to have the Senators switch on themselves.

Now that Senator Case has suggested it, however, the Senators are sure to race each other to be first to get the confession chair. I can just picture them now, beating their breasts and crying:

"I done it!"

Senator Case called the Baker case a "desecration." This should stimulate a whole series of anti-desecration marches.

The Republican Mr. Case said that "When I hear of an employee of the Senate hoarding his ten members of this body in his pocket, I do a slow burn." If Senator Case does a slow burn it sings only himself. But if the Senate employee with ten Senators in his pocket does a slow burn he is going to wind up with ten charred Senators.

The fact that nobody thought of the Case plan before would seem to beloken a lack of imagination in the Senate. Just thinking about it should cause the imagination to soar.

My imagination, notoriously a tormented one, makes me see Senators playing every parliamentary trick to gain the floor and confess to iniquities. I see them gabbing for the self-squealing like senators of ancient Rome. Those who haven't amassed enough money underhandedly to afford a long toga could make do with a short shift.

Right now I can envision one coming straight from the baths to make a clean breast. I can hear him saying brokenly:
"I couldn't live with myself any longer if I didn't make full and complete confession of this: Once in a week moment, I said 'Hello' to Bobby Baker."

The stuffy thing is that there are a number of Senators who didn't even know Bobby Baker. He didn't mingle much with Republicans. After all, how far could he let down the bars? These Senators who didn't know Bobby should be able to find something else to confess about, however.

If one of them searched his memory and soul he might come up with:
"Sounds like me in a private plane to Las Vegas where I was put up in a suite and bankrolled at crap tables. I knew it couldn't be wrong, however, because fifteen other Senators went, too."

Another might tattle on himself:
"I was given $20,000 cash in a suitcase, and all I had to do was put eleven of Joe Whittles boys on the payroll of my committee. No harm could have arisen from this because all his eleven boys promised never to come near Washington."

The Pennsylvania Story

By Mason Denison
(EDITOR'S NOTE: "Project 70," the ambitious $70,000,000 land reclamation and development project currently is going through the legislative mill—but the question might well be asked: "What good is a river without fish?" The problem in this respect facing communities along the 670-mile course of the Susquehanna River is typical of most areas throughout the State. One who has "lived" with the problem is Basse A. Beck, General Manager of the Sunbury Daily Item, and Chairman of the Committee on Fisheries of the Federated Sportsmen's Clubs of Pennsylvania. In this two-part series Mr. Beck strikes at the heart of the problem—with emphasis.)

(Part II)

HARRISBURG — Pennsylvania peddled away a priceless asset in 1926 when the power company was permitted to build a ninety foot dam without fish ladders. This was not the intent of the State Legislature and the law requiring fishways has never been changed or repealed.

It was a major mistake. Basic river conditions will never improve until fishways are in place and nature is allowed to bring life back to the Susquehanna in its own seasonal rhythms. I do not see how millions of dollars spent on stream fringe benefits can bring results planned for the river unless the migratory fish are given the right of way to pass the dams.

Therefore, this is a first and most important for the Susquehanna watershed. The fishway program is the most basic need in the Susquehanna River.

Right now a tremendously important experiment is being conducted in the Susquehanna River. Following a request made by the Pennsylvania Commission to the Department of the Interior and the Federal Power Commission that an order be issued requiring the installation of fishways in the Conowingo Dam, five utilities are financing a $195,500 shad experiment in the river.

This is to determine whether shad will hatch, survive and as fingerlings return to the sea through the turbines and whether adult shad will return to the base of the dams to complete their life cycles in the river of their birth as is their habit.

The project is being conducted by James T. McBroome, Chief of the Division of Technical Services, Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife, of the United States Department of the Interior. He is assisted by Project Leader, Frank Carlson, a federal biologist.

The experiment is being conducted under the observation of a Tri-State Advisory Committee, headed by L. Eugene Cronin, Chairman of the Board of Natural Resources in Maryland. Already about 11 million shad eggs have been flown by airplane to the Susquehanna River where they were placed in hatching boxes at Sunbury and at Falls on the North Branch and at Lewistown on the Juniata River, a Susquehanna tributary. Flown here last May, the eggs hatched in approximately 60 to 70 per cent ratios.

Thousands of these fingerlings are now making their way downstream. Sample nettings reveal they are in splendid condition and their growth rate is remarkable, ranging up to four inches.

This shad experiment will continue for two years during which time it is planned to bring 50 million shad eggs from the Columbia River and also to release some 2,000 adult shad in the river above Conowingo and the York Haven Dam.

I would like to point out this fishways program is already in the works. It will not cost the taxpayers a dime because the owners of the power dams are legally committed to install and maintain suitable fishways.

Inasmuch as the reinstatement of a natural flow of fish life to this river is a basic need for future development of a native natural resource, this program should receive full consideration and be included in studies now being made, or to be made, by the United States Engineering Corps in connection with the Susquehanna River basin.

Talent Is For Squares

(Editor's Note: A colleague has written an article that pertains to all of us. It should be given careful consideration. It would be an injustice to print only excerpts. Here in a series of articles is the workmanlike of Jenkin Lloyd Jones, Editor of The Tulsa (Okla.) Tribune. It is entitled, "Who is Tampering with the Soul of America?")

THIRD IN SERIES

While our Russian contemporaries, who were supposed to be dedicated to the mass man, have been busy constructing an elite we have been engaged in the wholesale production of mediocrity. What a switch!

When was the last time you examined the curricula of your local schools? How did your schools rank on the standardized Iowa tests? When have you looked at your schools' report cards and the philosophy behind their grading system? Have you asked to examine any senior English themes? Have you offered any recognition to your schools' best scholars to compare the recognition you accord your schools' best football players?

For the funny thing about "progressive education" is that theory vanishes when the referee's whistle blows for the kick-off.

In the classroom they pretend to grade subjectively, against the student's supposed capacity, lest he be humiliated by natural inadequacy. But on the football field they never put in a one-legged half-back on the theory that, considering his disability, he's a great half-back. They put in the best half-back they've got, period.

The ungifted sit on the bench or back in the stands even though they, too, might thirst for glory.

If our schools were as anxious to turn out brains as they are to turn out winning football teams this strange contradiction wouldn't exist.

Having neglected disciplines in education, it was quite logical that we should reject disciplines in art. The great painters and sculptors of the past studied anatomy so diligently that they often indulged in their own body-snatching. And today, after many centuries, we stare at the ceiling of the Sistine Chapel or at the walls of the Reichsmuseum and marvel at their works.

But this self-discipline is of little concern to the modern nonobjective painter. All he needs is pigment and press agent.

He can throw colors at a canvas and the art world will discover him. He can stick bits of glass, old rags and quids of used chewing tobacco on a board and he is a social critic. He can drive a car back and forth in pools of paint and "Life" magazine will write him up.

Talent is for squares. What you need is vast effrontery. If you undertake to paint a cow, it must look something like a cow. That takes at least a sign painter's ability. But you can claim to paint a picture of your psyche and, no matter what the result, who is to say what your psyche looks like? So our museums are filled with daubs being stared at by confused citizens who haven't the guts to admit they are confused.

But the Age of Fakery in art is a mild cross that American civilization bears. Much more serious is our collapse of moral standards and the blunting of our capacity for righteous indignation.

Our Puritan ancestors were preoccupied with sin. They were too preoccupied with it. They were hag-ridden and guilt-ridden and theirs was a repressed and neurotic society.

But they had horsepower. They wrestled livings from rocky land, built our earliest colleges, started our literature, caused our industrial revolution, and found time in between to fight the Indians, the French and the British, to bawl for abolition, women's suffrage, and prison reform, and to experiment with graham crackers and bloomers. They were tremendous people.

The Allen-Scott Report

Young Rebels

Robert S. Allen

WASHINGTON — Attorney General Robert Kennedy has made his first far-reaching political commitment since the assassination of his brother.

He has decided to go after the leadership of what is known in U.S. intelligence quarters as "the revolution of youth" that is flaring excitedly throughout the world.

Where this decision will carry the 38-year-old Kennedy is conjectural.

While no decision has been made on the political route to be followed to reach this objective, already young Kennedy has begun to align himself and his political future with the "revolutionary" aims of the youthful leaders of Africa, Asia, and Latin America, who represent a wide range of ideologies.

This highly controversial commitment will be highlighted by Kennedy in a series of June commencement addresses and in summer meetings with your officials from undeveloped countries and civil rights groups.

According to Justice Department aides, the young Attorney General's position will follow that outlined in a little-publicized speech delivered in Toronto, Canada, in which he urged support for these youthful revolutionary leaders, as follows:

"We must recognize that the young in many areas of the world today are in the midst of a revolution against the status quo. Their anger is turned on the system which has allowed poverty, illiteracy and oppression to flourish for centuries.

"And we must recognize one central fact: They will prevail. They will achieve their idealistic goals, one way or another. If they have to pull governments tumbling down over their heads, they will do it. But they are going to win a share of the new world.

"This affects us, Canada and the U.S., and you and me. Our future is tied up with what they think. Like it or not, what they are going to do will have a direct impact on us.

"We, in turn, are part of their revolution. At least we should be, and I believe we must encourage them. They will not be like 'sheep without a shepherd when the snow shuts out the sky! Someone will share their aspirations and their leadership. If this means that the future is perilous, I must admit that I think it is."

Wave of the Future — As proposed by Kennedy in this Canadian trial balloon, he will call for U.S. government support for such controversial revolutionary leaders as:

Kenneth Kaunda, 39, head of the Northern Rhodesian Nationalist Movement, and a pro-Soviet Marxist; Oskar Kamuhanga, 32, left-leaning foreign minister of Tanganyika; Jonas Savimbi, 30, Angolan exile leader, who has secret Russian ties; Sekou Toure, 38, president of Guinea and an avowed Marxist; Tom Mboya, 34, minister of justice in Kenya, and Rufino Hecokona, 33, left-leaning Philippines minister of finance.

To stress these ties even further, Kennedy will disclose plans to contact these young "revolutionary" leaders by inviting a number of them to visit him in Washington before the November election.

Playing With Fire — This significant Kennedy decision came at a time when Premier Khrushchev is launching a world-wide campaign to incite Western youth against their systems of government and social orders, including that of the U.S.

Under the direction of Vladimir Semichastnyy, head of the KGB (the Kremlin's espionage) and former chief of all Soviet youth movements, this undercover Communist campaign is aimed at taking over revolutionary youth movements throughout the world, as well as creating new ones.

In private testimony before the House Appropriations subcommittee in charge of its budget, FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover warned that Russia is in the process of setting up a Communist-oriented youth movement within the U.S. and other Western nations.

He revealed that the Reds are planning to call a national youth conference in Chicago next month to enlist college students, unemployed youths and Negroes in the new organization.

The objective of this new Communist organization, Hoover asserted, is "to pull major cities during civil rights demonstrations and to 'pull governments tumbling down over their heads.'"

This new Kennedy commitment fits in with private word from his younger brother, Senator Edward "Ted" Kennedy, D-Mass. He is telling close friends that "Bobby" has an "open mind" on "accepting the vice presidential nomination, if offered to him, or the Democratic senatorial nomination in New York."

"Ted" is stressing that his brother is an "activist" and wants to be in a position in the next few years where he can carry out programs both domestic and foreign that deal with youth.

Dear Abby

A Salute To Alaska

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I write with compulsion tonight. I can no longer contain my pride in my town, my state, my nation. Where do I start? I have seen people who have lost dear ones. People who have lost only some of their worldly possessions, and people who have lost everything. But no backs are bowed. The cooperation and organization is astounding! From teen-agers who offer to baby-sit for their neighbors so that they may salvage what they can from their wrecked homes, to engineers and survey crews already working to rebuild. Restoration of transportation, mail service, water, newspapers, power, has begun, and even the corner grocery store is swept up, mopped up, and sometimes propped up, but open for business. What a heroic job our radio hams did, working night and day to relay messages to loved ones. And the American Red Cross! And the generosity of our sister states! I could go on and on. Let no man say that we are "soft," that we Americans are weak. I have seen our strength and I am overwhelmed.

A PROUD ALASKAN

DEAR ABBY: This is for the cocktail waitress who complained because she had to wear a short, low-cut, sexy-looking uniform on her job: A decent girl wouldn't go out in public that way. Girls who show off their bodies in the line of duty, such as strippers and models, have no shame or modesty, and would just as soon stand naked in a department store window as say "How do you do?" Any woman who would be ashamed to have her child go into the place where she is working and say, "There is MY mother!" should change jobs. And if she is standing there with most of her front exposed, and half of her behind sticking out, I mean HER!

FOR DECENCY IN N. Y.

DEAR ABBY: You advised that short-skirted cocktail waitress who complained about her hours and the men customers making passes at her to get a job with shorter hours and longer skirts. That is easier said than done. Six years ago my husband walked out and left me with five children under ten years of age. I had never worked a day in my life and was trained for nothing. I took a job as a short-skirted cocktail waitress. It wasn't easy, but it beat charity. I have been able to support my family and provide insurance for their future education. If men customers get rough, I tell them in a nice way that I have five children to support and a scene could cost me my job. They never give me any trouble after that. I work five days a week from 7 p. m. until 2 a. m. and take home about $160 a week. I am a PTA president, Cub Scout den mother, blood donor and a one-day-a-week hospital volunteer. I am also—

A SHORT-SKIRTED WAITRESS

Dear Short-Skirted: You are also a far-sighted woman. And justifiably proud.

DEAR ABBY: I am graduating from eighth grade in June and all the girls in my class are wearing white dresses. My older sister was graduated from eighth grade two years ago and my mother wants me to wear the same dress SHE wore. I am afraid everybody will remember it and know that I am wearing my sister's old dress. We haven't got the money for a new dress and my sister's is very pretty and as good as new, but I still feel funny about it. I hate to hurt my mother's feelings, but I would sure like a new dress. What should I do?

HAND-ME-DOWNS

Dear Girl Graduate: Wear the dress, honey, and don't give it a second thought. It is the way a person wears a garment that makes it lovely. And chances are, not one person will remember having seen it before.

Speaking Of Your Health:

Readers Are Asking

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.
When a patient is being treated in the clinic of a hospital by an intern or a resident, he is being treated by a full-fledged doctor?

Interns and residents are graduate physicians who have obtained their M.D. degrees. They are completely trained and competent to treat patients. Residents are doctors who have finished their internship and are being further trained in one of the medical or surgical specialties.

All medical and surgical treatment in clinics is under the constant and rigid supervision of "attending" staff doctors. These attending physicians and surgeons are almost always in private practice and devote many hours a week to the careful teaching and supervision of interns and residents.

Hot Or Cold

Is there a special time when hot applications are preferable to cold compresses? The confusion about hot and cold applications seems to be handed down from generation to generation. Some people prefer hot. Some people prefer cold. Actually, it is said that in many cases either extreme—cold or hot—seems to serve the same function.

Cold applied immediately to a sprain, or to a bump on the head, tends to prevent swelling. However, after an interval of a few hours, it is heat that helps to reduce the swelling.

With infections, boils or abscesses, hot wet dressings concentrate the infection and "bring it to a head."

Tumor Query

Are all tumors cancerous? No, they are not. A tumor is the classification for all growths. Cancerous growths are called malignant. Non-cancerous growths are called benign.

Almost all growths are benign. It is for this reason that when a patient finds a growth, he must not be terrified in the false belief that it must be a cancer. Fear often delays an examination which generally would bring immediate assurance after consultation with the physician.

Stories Behind Words

by William S. Penfield

Clock

It is not known who invented the first machine that measured time through the movements of wheelwork. The first such device is believed to have been made more than 1,000 years ago.

These early timepieces had no faces or hands. The time was given on the hour by a part of the machine that struck a bell.

Since the striking of the bell informed people of the time, they took the word they used to denote a bell and used it as a name for the whole timepiece.

In Old French the word for bell was "cloche." The word entered Middle Dutch as "eloke," and passed into the English language as "clock."

Acting DPI Head Speaker At ESSC Commencement

EAST STROUDSBURG — Dr. George W. Hoffman, Acting Superintendent of the Pa. Department of Public Instruction, will deliver the commencement address at the 71st annual graduation exercises to be held at East Stroudsburg State College on Sunday, May 24.

Dr. LeRoy Koehler, president of ESSC, stated that he was extremely pleased to obtain the services of Dr. Hoffman as his experience in the Department of Public Instruction and his personal attributes make him an outstanding authority.

Dr. Hoffman, during his career has been teacher, principal, college professor and a state administrator. His vast store of knowledge about the teaching profession will afford the graduating seniors a rare opportunity when Dr. Hoffman addresses them.

Receiving his B.S. Degree from Gettysburg College and his Master's Degree from Penn State, Dr. Hoffman went to the University of Pittsburgh where he earned another Master's and the Ph. D. Degree.

Following his teaching and principalships in Pennsylvania public schools, Dr. Hoffman joined the staff of the University of Pittsburgh in 1945. Serving there until 1957, he then became Director of the Bureau of Higher Education in the Pa. Department of Public Instruction.

In 1962 he was appointed Deputy Superintendent and in May of this year Acting Superintendent of Public Instruction.

Active in church and community organizations, Dr. Hoffman also holds memberships in many educational and professional societies. During World War II, Dr. Hoffman served as a captain in the U.S. Army Air Force.

Hellertown Man Pays Fines, Costs

STROUDSBURG — Thomas B. Kubels, 22, of Hellertown was released from the Monroe County Jail Sunday after paying $45 in fines, costs.

Kubels was committed to jail Saturday on charges of speeding and driving without an operators license. He was apprehended by Sgt. Millard F. Wolfe of the Fern Ridge State Police.

Kubels received a hearing Saturday at 9 p.m. before Justice of the Peace Isaac Dyson of Long Pond. He pleaded guilty to both charges and was committed to the Monroe County Jail in default of the $45.

The magistrate fined Kubels $25 fine and five dollars cost on the charge of not having an operators license and $10 fine and five dollars cost on the speeding charge.

St. Matthew's Concert Today

EAST STROUDSBURG — St. Matthew's School Band will present its annual concert today at 8 p.m. in the school's auditorium.

A variety of musical numbers are in the program, and include a bass solo by Robert Meyer who will be accompanied by Christine Scala.

Also, a flute and clarinet trio including Mary Rogers, Barbara Baker and Jean Sobinski.

The band is under the direction of Walter Lane.

Livestock Survey Underway

EAST STROUDSBURG — The semi-annual livestock survey, conducted cooperatively by the Post Office and Agriculture Departments started yesterday, postmasters Gregory, of East Stroudsburg, and Fred Rhodes, of Stroudsburg, announced.

Survey cards will be distributed by rural mail carriers and star route contractors. The cards will be placed in farmers' mail boxes, selected at random, on rural routes served by the East Stroudsburg Post Office.

These surveys are conducted cooperatively each year by the Post Office and Agriculture Department and serve as a basis for estimating numbers of livestock on farms; livestock production; the size of the pig, calf, lamb and wool crops; and the number of chickens raised.

This information is of considerable importance to farmers, the livestock industry, industries serving agriculture, public agencies and the general public.

Postmaster Gregory urged recipients of cards to fill them out completely and return them promptly to the mail carrier to provide a cross-section of information representative of this area.

3 Area Knight Councils To Exemplify 3rd Degree

BANGOR — Third Degree exemplification of three area councils of the Knights of Columbus of the 21st Pennsylvania District will be held in the Father DeNisco Council Home in Bangor, Sunday, May 24 at 1 p.m.

District Twenty-one is comprised of the Father DeNisco Council in Bangor; the Pocono Mountain Council in Tobyhanna and the Father John T. Butler Council in Stroudsburg.

The Father DeNisco Council Home is the first event to be scheduled in their new edifice.

The DeNisco Home is located on the West Bangor - Pen Argyl highway. The council has just celebrated the 10th anniversary of their institution.

All officers of the three listed councils are listed as members of the Degree team and as such will participate along with their Grand Knights and Financial secretaries in the exemplification.

All second-degree members of the three councils are eligible to receive the third-degree: rder.

Murphy In Charge

District Deputy James A. Murphy of Stroudsburg, will be in charge of the exemplification which will be conducted by the Stamford, Conn. major degree team.

Anthony G. Sabia of Roseto, district warden will assist the district deputy. Sabia is acting as chairman of the affair for the host council, Father DeNisco of Bangor.

The degree is open to all Third-degree members from the outlying areas.

Grand Knights Joseph C. Harrison of Stroudsburg; William M. Flaherty, of Tobyhanna; and Anthony Trigiani of Bangor; and Financial secretaries Thomas Leonard of Stroudsburg; Michael Abano of Tobyhanna; and Matthew Giovannini of Roseto, will be in charge of all second-degree candidates.

2-Car Crash On Road In Slate Belt

BANGOR — A two-car accident occurred over the weekend on the Bangor-Pen Argyl road a quarter of a mile west of Pen Argyl.

Luigi Calotti, 65, of Pen Argyl, and Mildred M. Amy, 54, of Wind Gap, RD 1, were identified as the drivers of the vehicles by Eastern State Police.

Calotti was traveling east attempting to overtake and pass the Amy vehicle when he went off the left side of the highway. The vehicle re-entered the highway and sideswiped the Amy vehicle, police said. The Calotti vehicle continued, crossed the highway, went off the right side and hit a pole, police added.

Damage to the Calotti vehicle is estimated at $400, and to the Amy vehicle at $300, police said.

Judge Denies New Trial Bid

POTTSVILLE, Pa. (AP) — Two men convicted of the John B. Rich burglary were denied petitions Monday for reargument of their appeals for new trials.

Judge Charles W. Staudenmeier ordered John Berkery and Ralph Staino Jr., to appear at 10 a.m. Friday for sentencing along with another defendant, Robert Poulson.

On May 4 Staudenmeier rejected appeals for new trials for all three.

Berkery and Poulson are serving time on previous convictions. Staino is free on bail. The three may appeal to the state Superior Court after sentencing. Lillian Reis, 34-year-old former Philadelphia night club owner, was convicted last month of masterminding the burglary plot. Her appeal for a new trial is pending.

Police contend that nearly half a million dollars was looted from the Rich safe in August 1959. Rich, a coal operator, says the amount in cash and jewelry, was closer to $20,000.

Treasury Seeks Data On Rooney Bill

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Rep. Fred B. Rooney said yesterday that a report on H. R. 10001 has been requested from officials of the Treasury Department. This is Rooney's bill to exempt volunteer fire companies from payment of income and admissions taxes.

Cong. Rooney said that he anticipates an early reply to the Committee on Ways and Means from Treasury officials. Once this report has been received it will be possible for the Ways and Means Committee to proceed with preliminary discussion of the bill.

During the past four weeks, Rooney said, his office has received an increasing number of endorsements of the bill from fire companies and local governments throughout the country. Mail on the bill is running high, not only in Rooney's office, but in the offices of other Congressmen who are being urged to support the legislation.

Public response to the bill in Congressman Rooney's office runs second only to endorsement of the Congressman's effort to make prayer in the schools permissible.

Masters Degrees To Be Conferred

EAST STROUDSBURG — The Master of Education Degree in Biological Science will be conferred upon two students during graduation exercises that will be held at East Stroudsburg State College on Sunday, May 24.

According to Dr. William G. Moore, head of the Science Department at ESSC, Henry Fremont and John Halmi have successfully met all requirements of the graduate division and will receive the degree in recognition of their work.

Henry Fremont of RD 4, Stroudsburg, is presently teaching biology in the Belvidere (N. J.) High School. He received his B. S. Degree with a major in biology from East Stroudsburg State College.

Fremont plans to enter Columbia University in September to begin work on a Ph.D. degree. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Fremont of 212 South Second Street, Bangor.

John Halmi of 1813 Main Street, Northampton, is teaching science in the Washington (N.J.) High School. He received the B. S. degree at ESSC in 1961. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Halmi, Sr., of Palmerston.

Scenic Tour

HARRISBURG — Public hearing on an application of Pocono Scenic Tour for the right to operate as a common carrier in transporting people is scheduled by the Public Utility Commission for Wednesday, May 20, in the courthouse in Stroudsburg.

Nearly 300 Ready For Scout-A-Rama

STROUDSBURG — Nearly 300 boys from 15 Cub Scout, Boy Scout and Explorer units in the Pocono District have signed up for participation in the Scout-A-Rama Friday, May 22 at Hill Meadow Stables, one mile west of Stroudsburg on Route 209.

Various attractions have been arranged to take advantage of the boys' interest and abilities in scouting. Pomp, ceremony, humor and pageantry have been mixed on a program designed to appeal to the family. The tickets are being sold on a one to a family basis. One ticket will admit the parents and children of an entire family.

The opening ceremony with all units parading will be composed of nearly 300 boys. John J. Pentz, Jr., Stroudsburg attorney, will officiate at the opening flag ceremony. Immediately following, members of Boy Scout Troop 93 of the Blue Ridge and Cherry Valley Rod and Gun Club will present a "melting pot pageant."

According to Charles Jenkinson, of Seleta, Scoutmaster, the highlight of this pageant will be the appearance of "Uncle Sam."

He said the boys had chosen this pageant as their participation in the Scout-A-Rama and more than 20 members of the troop will participate. Jack A. Lippincott, assistant scoutmaster, also of Seleta, has added the troop in the presentation.

Demonstrations of communications, camping and explorer tactics will be displayed during the show. A zoo parade and Roman chariot race have also been planned.

Prior to the show, booths will be open at 6:30 p.m. for Cub Scouts, Boy Scouts and Explorers to display special abilities for the guests. Among the booth displays will be paper bag cookery and sassafras tea.

Just Between Us —

It may not be possible within the bounds of the Poconos to cover as many climates, centuries or cultures as in Europe but you can sure compress into 24 hours entirely different worlds of activities.

The group at the dedication of the Claude Leister Bird Sanctuary on Saturday afternoon was a veritable Who's Who of local leaders in a variety of fields. Dr. Leister would have been the first to appreciate the laughter that flickered like sunshine on dark wind-ruffled waters over the solemnity of dedication. Even the wives of his pretty daughters seemed about to fail to coax the donkey to eat the ribbon-breaking carrot when, out of nowhere, a donkey, who hadn't even been invited, wandered in and did the job with dispatch.

Doing the job of giving away his step-daughter with a flourish was Herbert Crane in full formal regalia and thoroughly enjoying the role of father of the bride. At the outdoor reception at Water Gap Country Club, against the green, green of the grass, those bridesmaids' dresses, the color of champagne without the bubbles and their cascade bouquets of coral geraniums and ivy, made an unforgettable picture.

I couldn't stay to see whether anybody yielded to temptation in the form of the pool, but the Junior Woman's Club banquet was next on the schedule. I was fortunate enough to sit near Ora Hoffman, the next Junior president, and her husband, Bob, who is the next Optimist president. Between the two of them and their club ambitions, next year should see some giant strides in community betterment.

If contrasts don't come naturally, I seem to achieve them anyway. After finally triumphing over the innate perversity of motors, I mowed about a half acre of the three that are rapidly growing up in hay at the river, stopping just in time to shower off the blown grass with which I was plastered before the DAR luncheon. It was only after I was seated in the midst of be-furred and be-flowered ladies that I realized I hadn't had time to stop jiggling from the vibrations of the mower. Mrs. Nagel's dolls were just what I needed.

Miss Eugenia M. Rushin, Stephen Van Campen Wed

Portland — Miss Eugenia Marie Rushin, daughter of Mrs. Eugene A. Rushin and the late Dr. Rushin, was married on Saturday at 2 p.m. to Stephen B. Van Campen, son of Mrs. Marion Van Campen, of East Stroudsburg, and Bernard Van Campen.

The ceremony was held in St. Vincent DePaul's Catholic Church, Portland, with Rev. Michael J. O'Brien, CM, officiating. The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Eugene J. Rushin, of Portland.

Miss Ellen Kovalsky, of Glen Lyon, was maid of honor and Jack Bowman, of Trenton, N. J., served as best man.

A wedding luncheon for the family and wedding party was held at the Penn-Stroud Hotel, Stroudsburg.

The bride, a graduate of the Pennsylvania State University, is teaching in the Hackettstown, N. J., Elementary School. Her husband, also a graduate of Pennsylvania State University, is associated with the Food and Drug Administration in Maryland, where they plan to make their home.

Community Welfare Unit Is Organizing In Barrett

Barrett — A new Barrett Community Welfare Council has been organized for the purpose of coordinating community activities to help persons with special needs in the township.

Meeting in The Cottage of the Canadensis Methodist Church, representatives of township church and civic groups organized the new council. Since the handling of the Barrett Neighborhood Society, there has been no designated organization to take care of emergency welfare needs.

To fill this need, the Barrett Community Club suggested that an organization be established with representatives of all the civic clubs and churches in the township.

DAR Closing Luncheon Is Devoted To Historic Dolls

Stroudsburg — The Jacob Stroud Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution held a luncheon meeting yesterday at the Penn-Stroud Hotel when Mrs. Robert C. Nagel, of Stroudsburg, told the "Story of Dolls."

The history of dolls goes back to the beginning of the history of man. Mrs. Nagel pointed out. Oldest doll in her own extensive collection goes back to 1791. She had a few of her dolls present and many more on colored slides.

Fashion dolls which carried Paris fashions to Queen Elizabeth; doctor dolls for the Orient where shy women patients could show the doctor where it hurt on the dolls, dried apple dolls, china dolls, paper mache and wooden dolls were included in the collection. She was introduced by Mrs. Horace Walters. Mrs. Ernest H. Wyckoff, organizing regent, presided at the luncheon for Mrs. William Andrews, regent, who was there but had lost her voice. At the business meeting, Mrs. Paul Follen, resigned as vice regent. Mrs. Frank Weiss and Mrs. Floyd Bachman were nominated. Delegates to the Continental Congress were also nominated. Election will be in September.

Honored guests at the luncheon were the girls chosen to receive DAR medals at each of the county's four high schools. Introduced by Mrs. James N. Canfield were Joanne Brong, of Pleasant Valley; Susan Brong, of Pocono Mountains; Patricia Ponder, Stroud Union and Nancy Fritz, East Stroudsburg. Announced as new members were Mrs. Thomas B. Mullen and Mrs. Alvin L. Austin, both of Mount Bethel, who entered through the line of John Price, pioneer settler in Price Township. Reports were given by Mrs. George Marsh and Mrs. Bernard Rowe. Members were invited to the Bethlehem Chapter luncheon on June 5 with reservations due by June 1 with Mrs. Marsh.

Mrs. Harry Warlick gave the national defense report, devoted to an editorial to the late Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

PRESIDENT'S RECEPTION—Miss Barbara Groner of Bangor and Miss Sandra Frantz of Kunkletown are welcomed by Dr. Leroy J. Koehler, president of East Stroudsburg State College at the reception for graduating seniors as Mrs. Koehler and John Farley of the board of trustees wait to greet them.

Reception, Dinner For College Seniors

East Stroudsburg — The graduating class of 1964 were guests at a reception and dinner held at East Stroudsburg State College on Sunday.

About 200 seniors and their guests were received in the president's home by Dr. and Mrs. Leroy J. Koehler and John Farley of the board of trustees. Serving at the table decorated with flowers and candles were Mrs. John Farley, Mrs. Francis McGarry, Mrs. Sumner Bossler, Mrs. Celeste Rossi and Miss Genevieve Zimbar, class advisor.

Dinner was attended by many of the class and faculty. Dr. Koehler introduced members of the board of trustees and other special guests.

John Ferguson, class president, presented a summary of the four years the class had spent at the college. Prof. William Hope, a visiting professor from France during the year, presented reflections on that year, speaking through a fictitious French exchange student.

Artist To Speak At BPWC World Affairs Dinner

Stroudsburg — Pier Sassau, an artist who was born in Spain, studied in Italy and lives in Norristown, will be the guest speaker at the world affairs meeting of the Business and Professional Women's Club.

The meeting will be held Thursday, May 21, at 6:30 at the Penn-Stroud Hotel.

Born in the city of Palma on the island of Majorca, Spain, Sassau is descended from a long line of artists. He is a graduate of the Academy of Fine Arts, Milano, Italy. Since immigrating to this country eight years ago, he has taught art on a part-time basis in many schools and maintains his own studio in Norristown where he paints and works on free lance commercial art.

Some of his larger works are the frescos in the Mount Carmel and Holy Savior Catholic Churches in Norristown, and the mural in the Montgomery County Trust Bank in Norristown.

THE WYCKOFF SHOPPER

One of the most prized gifts I have ever received is a beautiful candy dish of ruby glass that is very, very old. I am so delighted with it, I have wrapped it 'round and 'round with tissue and packed it away in a heavy cardboard box so it cannot be broken ... but as a friend pointed out, "That is stupid. What good is having it, if you can't enjoy it?" So now I shall unwrap it, and bring it out, just as soon as I survey the house carefully and decide where it is apt to be safest from objects that might tumble upon it, and the fingers of children who might grasp for it because of its color.

I suppose one can never be absolutely sure that a prized object is safe. I was almost certain that one of my most cherished Madonnas—a lovely figurine called Maria and the Children, showing the Mother with Jesus and John the Baptist, was out of harm's way, when a resounding crash proved how wrong I had been. One of the family, while reading a newspaper, rested an arm upon the marble top table, causing the lamp to topple right across the statuette. In a twinkling it was a heap of tiny china chips on the living room floor.

Accidents do happen, and are unavoidable ... what's more, they usually happen to something one cares about very deeply. Why, I wonder? I try to be philosophic and tell myself that inanimate objects, just as human beings, are given a life span, and when it spins to its end that is it! It does help to take the sting away from one's losses, and it really makes sense, doesn't it. If nothing ever broke or disintegrated, the world would long ago have become so overcrowded there would be no room for animals and people.

I am quite sure that if, when I am old, I still have my eyesight and a pleasant room in which to sit, with sunlight pouring through a window upon my colored glassware in its many jewel-tones, I shall be quite content. My friends know how much I love color in glass, and very often I am remembered on birthdays and other occasions with a pair of turquoise swans ... a bud vase of apricot tone ... a lovely green bottle ... or a brilliant red pitcher. At this point, I am sure I have almost every color that we display in our International Gift Center, except perhaps that very unusual shade that is nearer chartreuse than anything else.

For the most part, these reproductions of the glass of a bygone day are very reasonable in price. There are tall pitchers with an embossed design of the American eagle, at 2.98. There are big, graceful apothecary jars of amethyst, amber, green, or royal blue, at 5.98 ... hurricane lamps with both shade and base of glass, at 5.00, and many pretty vases at 1.19. Other pieces, including cream pitchers and sugar bowls, are only 1.98 and 2.98, yet all have the gleaming beauty of precious gems.

Speaking of reproductions ... one of the most attractive jugs in our International Gift Center is of dark brown with mottled brown and white center, and a mottled handle. Look closely, and you observe that the handle is a dog. This is a faithful copy of the Houndhandle jug in an Ohio museum dated sometime in the 1800s. The paper inside each jug, telling its history is marked 7.98. At Wyckoff's we sell them for one dollar less ... THAT'S the kind of a store we have!

And speaking of jugs ... Mary Hitesman is stocking some Roseville pottery jugs combining the grayish bottom and sleek brown top and trim so popular in a bygone day. The largest ... and it's really big ... is less than 3.00, and should be ideal for arranging big bouquets of black-eyed susans on your front porch, or serving lemonade at a church picnic. There are three other sizes, smaller and less expensive.

Too had I'm not a millionaire. I can think of 50000 many ways to spend money.

Heart Disease Myths Can Kill Unwary Who Believe

By ALTON BLAKESLEE

and JEREMIAH STAMLER, M.D.

In matters of health, everyone from a grandmother to a scamp on an airplane is quick with well-meant advice.

Sometimes it is sound. But unduly their advice is often dangerous, based on myths or misconceptions, or far outdated.

A cloud of myths and misconceptions obscures the facts about coronary disease and hinders not good for our hearts.

Some examples:

"Heart attacks happen mostly to big shots and executives."

The fact is business executives are no more prone to heart attacks than anyone else, and may have fewer because recently more of them have been acting against the known risks.

"A new pill cuts down your blood cholesterol, so you don't have to worry about what you eat."

There is no safe drug yet available for general use. Furthermore, reducing the cholesterol level involves only one of the high risks.

"This new diet melts off extra pounds in two or three weeks."

Be wary. Crash diets may or may not slough off weight, and when they do they may omit essential nutrients your body and heart need. Most importantly, they offer no long-term solution.

"They say calories don't count."

Well, they certainly DO count, and weight gain invariably comes about because we eat more calories than our bodies need. The rest is stored as fat, with one pound of fat representing 3,500 calories.

"To avoid a heart attack, you've got to cut out all fats, and can't have any eggs or butter or anything containing cholesterol."

Absolutely untrue. The anti-coronary diets call only for cutting down on fats and cholesterol, and SUBSTITUTING another kind of fat for some of the hard fats you ordinarily eat.

On the other hand, we also hear:

"The human body manufactures cholesterol, so it doesn't matter what you eat."

Exercise Helps

Our bodies do manufacture cholesterol. But what we eat can add a lot more than we would otherwise have.

"Exercise in middle age is dangerous. And exercise can't help you lose weight, you just get hungry and eat more."

We do read of men dropping dead on the golf course, or while shoveling snow. It's easy to assume it is exercise that kills or hurts the heart. In truth, about half of all heart attacks occur during rest or sleep.

Leading specialists like Dr. Paul Dudley White of Boston believe exercise and hard work preserve your heart. A 10-minute walk each day — added to present activity — can spend 50 calories without making you eat more. That's enough to lose five pounds in a year.

"Hereditarily sets you up for a heart attack, and my father and grandfather before him had heart trouble. So I might as well eat, drink and be merry."

Hereditarily may play a role and affect your risk. But there's a difference between a "family tendency" due to genetics or inheritance, and a tendency that simply reflects family habits such as overeating, obesity, and heavy smoking. A real family history of premature coronary disease should impel you to seek medical advice early — and get on with a systematic, thorough-going attack against the conspirators.

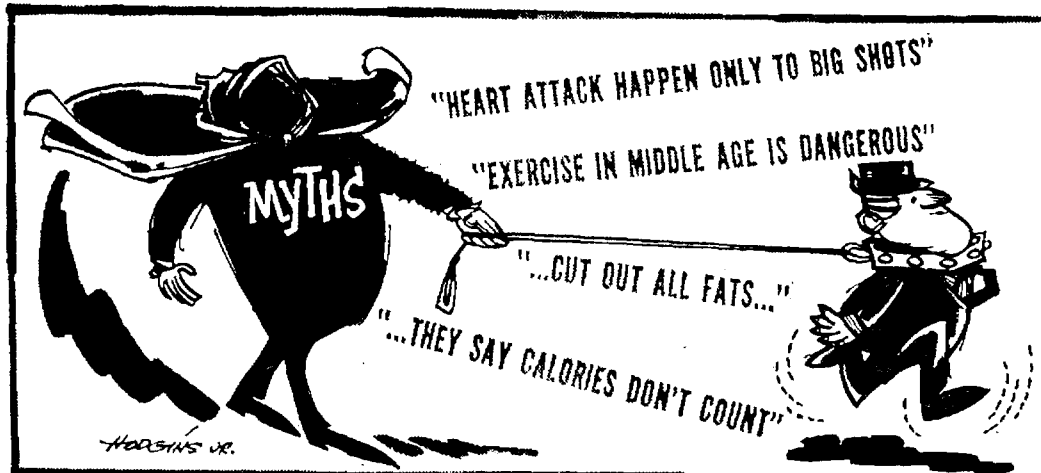

"There's really no reason to be careful about smoking, exercise and eating — look at all the guys who eat all they please, and never lift a finger in exercise. They live well and long with no heart attack."

Some do, true enough, but how many? It is impossible to predict whether you will be one of the lucky few — or whether you will follow the usual course and be victimized prematurely.

"I'm 25 and perfectly healthy. There's no reason to worry about heart attacks until I reach 40."

You may be whistling en route to the graveyard. For atherosclerosis is a systematic disease, a long-term process usually developing slowly and sporadically until the biological rusting closes off a vital artery.

It appears likely that most young American males have "early" artery clogging. Many are dying young and far more will become prime candidates for heart attacks by age 45 to 54, unless they avoid events along the way that hasten the disease.

"Being a woman, I don't have to worry about heart disease. It's men who are susceptible."

As a woman you are likely to be relatively free of severe coronary disease, compared with men, until late in middle age. You are not immune even then. And after about age 65, women suffer from heart disease and strokes almost as much as men.

As a last example, one common attitude runs pretty much like this:

"The artery disease is just part of growing old. We have more older people now, so it's only natural more people are dying of heart disease."

Well, the artery-rusting process is not an inevitable handmaiden of aging. The arteries of some men in their 80's and 90's are found remarkably free of the rust.

Atherosclerosis is no new actor on the stage of human disease. But it was not until 50 years ago that the coronary attack was really recognized as a true clinical entity.

New Way Found To Stop Hair Loss, Grow More Hair

HOUSTON, Texas — If you don't suffer from male pattern baldness, there is now an excellent chance you can stop your hair loss and grow more hair.

For years "they said it couldn't be done." But now a firm of laboratory consultants has developed a treatment that is not only stopping hair loss, but is really growing hair!

They don't even ask you to take their word for it. If they believe that the treatment will help you, they invite you to try it for 32 days, at their risk, and see for yourself!

Naturally, they would not offer this no-risk trial unless the treatment worked. However, it is impossible to satisfy everyone.

The great majority of cases of excessive hair fall and baldness are the beginning and more fully developed stages of male pattern baldness and cannot be helped.

But how can any man or woman be sure what is actually causing their hair loss? Even if baldness may seem to "run in your family," this is certainly no proof of the cause of YOUR hair loss.

Actually, there are many scalp conditions that can cause hair loss. No matter which one is the cause of your hair loss, if you wait until you are slick bald and your hair roots are dead, you are beyond help. So, if you still have hair (or at least some fuzz) on top of your head, and would like to stop your hair loss and grow more hair, now is the time to do something about it, before it's too late.

Loesch Laboratory Consultants, Inc. will supply you with treatment for 32 days, at their risk, if they believe the treatment will help you. Just send them the information listed below. All inquiries are answered promptly, by mail and without obligation.

Stroud Union Elementary Concert Set Friday Night

STROUDSBURG — "This Is My Country" is the theme of the Combined Choral and Band Concert of the Stroud Union Elementary Schools scheduled Friday evening at 7:30 in the gymnasium of the Stroud Union High School.

Miss Patricia Haglund of Mills College in New York City will be the guest conductor. Miss Haglund is a graduate of the University of California at Los Angeles and Teachers College, Columbia University.

She taught music in the Los Angeles City School System and was music supervisor in the Demonstration School at U.C.L.A. before coming to Mills College.

Miss Haglund will conduct the combined choruses consisting of children of the five elementary schools of the district. Mr. Ralph Harrison will conduct the Junior Band in their portion of the program.

The choruses of the Arlington Heights and Clearview Schools are under the direction of Miss Patricia Ungemach.

The choruses of Ramsey and Morey Schools are under the direction of Mrs. Leona Wilhoite, and the Hamilton School chorus under the direction of Mrs. Marilyn Dennis.

Harrison is the instrumental instructor for all Stroud Union elementary schools.

The concert is open to the public.

Mrs. Staph indicated that the annual Poppy Day proceeds are devoted entirely to rehabilitation and child welfare work. It is also used for the disabled veterans. Most of the contributions remain in the area from which they are received, she said.

In addition, the only pay for services in connection with the annual Poppy Day campaign is given to veterans for their work in handmaking the poppies. They receive $300,000 annually for their efforts.

The poppies are made with wire, red, green and black crepe paper. The auxiliary provides the materials.

Barry Backs GOP Candidate

VENTURA, Calif. (AP)—Sen. Barry Goldwater has said he'll support whatever presidential candidate the Republicans choose.

"I will spend every ounce of my devotion in the months ahead to seeking a Republican victory — no matter whom the convention nominates in July," the presidential aspirant said in a speech prepared for a campaign rally here.

Goldwater, battling New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, the only other candidate on the GOP ballot in California's June 2 primary, said in his text for the meeting at Ventura County High School.

"We have heard it said, publicly and frankly, that the objective of some Republicans is not the victory of their party but simply control of their party."

Paul Grube Is Selected ESSC Athlete Of Year

EAST STROUDSBURG — Paul Grube, East Stroudsburg State College varsity letter winner in soccer, baseball and basketball, has been selected the college's "Athlete of the Year." The selection was made on a vote of all award-winning athletes.

Grube, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul H. Grube of Orwigsburg, is a 1956 graduate of Hamburg High School. He is married and the father of a young daughter. A major in health and physical education, Paul will graduate Sunday.

Grube was awarded the honor at the annual athletic awards banquet. Honor and merit prevailed as the themes of the affair.

ESSC athletes — both men and women — of the 1963-64 season were awarded varsity letters and paid special honor by the coaches of each sport. The merit of the theme was superbly presented by Peter Carlesimo, director of athletics at Scranton University. He continually caused roars of appreciation with a perfectly-timed delivery and use of subtle wit and charm.

Skilfully laced with humor, Carlesimo's talk more than satisfied the expectations of the audience.

John Eiler, director of athletics at ESSC, was the toastmaster.

Other athletes honored at the tete were:

Football — Joe Bahutka and Leo Reimer (Red Shirt award).

Men's basketball — Warren Landis.

Wrestling — Bob Guzzo.

Gymnastics — George Logue.

Men's swimming — Ronald Phelps.

Men's tennis — Ronald Woods.

Golf — Roger Stern.

Track — James Wolfe.

Baseball — Jim Reynolds.

Cross country — Marston Ormance.

Soccer — Gerard Forrester.

Field hockey — Susan Albright.

Women's basketball — Virginia Shelly.

Women's gymnastics — Joanne McCoy.

Women's swimming — Mary Hoesy.

Women's tennis — Martha Meade.

Lacrosse — Betsy Dunbrack.

Archery — Ann Morie Yogie.

'Killer' Killebrew Joins 'Murderers'

NEW YORK (AP) — Harmon (Killer) Killebrew, playing a passive role over the first month of the 1964 baseball season, has finally become an active member of Minnesota's murderers' row while moving to make a successful defense of his American League home run title.

Killebrew only had four homers in the Twins' first 21 games. Then, he cracked five in his next five games, including a pair in Sunday's doubleheader against Boston. With nine, he trails the leaders, teammate Bob Allison and Rocky Colavito of Kansas City, by one.

Killebrew led the AL with 48 homers last season and has a lifetime total of 187.

Mays Sets Pace

Meanwhile, Willie Mays of the San Francisco Giants continues to set the National League home run pace with 14. He slammed three last week.

However, the slugging outfielder lost considerable ground in the batting competition. With only seven hits in 31 tries, Mays dropped 70 points to .411.

It was a bad week for most of the majors' other top batsmen. Billy Williams of the Chicago Cubs, the NL runner-up, slumped 24 points to .381 with eight safeties in 26 trips while Pittsburgh's Roberto Clemente remained in third place despite a 26 point drop to .372. Clemente turned in a 7-for-26 performance last week.

Maintains Lead

Tony Oliva, Minnesota's rookie outfielder, maintained his American League batting lead although he lost 43 points to .398. He had eight hits in 31 attempts.

Altman's HR Tops Giants

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — George Altman powered a three-run homer, confounding San Francisco Manager Alvin Dark's strategy and leading the New York Mets to a 4-2 victory over the Giants Monday.

With two runners on in the eighth, Dark brought on left-handed Billy Pierce to pitch to left-handed hitting Altman. The big outfielder responded with his second homer of the year, scoring ing Dick Smith and Rod Kanehl ahead of him.

Big Blast

The big blast ended the right field fence over a 31-inning stretch in which the Mets hadn't scored a run against the Giants. It gave Altman his second victory of the year against three setbacks and Bob Shaw his second loss against three victories. Shaw had relieved Bob Taylor after Taylor pinch hit a single to lead off the eighth. Smith forced Taylor at second and Kanehl beat out an infield hit.

With Altman batting, played the percentages and in came Pierce. But the percentages failed.

Altman flomered and then left handed hitting Jess Ginder doubled. Gaylord Perry, a right-hander, relieved him and right-handed hitting Joe Christopher singled in the fourth run of the inning, before Perry finally retired the side.

Take Lead

The Giants took a 1-0 lead in the sixth inning when Chuck Hiller singled, advanced on a sacrifice and scored on Jim Hart's single.

Tom Haller belted a solo homer, his second, in the eighth off reliever Larry Bommarito.

Jim Duffalo made his first start of the year for the Giants after hurling six scoreless innings in relief. He allowed only Home runs — New York, Altman (2); San Francisco, Haller (2).

Phillies Regain First

HOUSTON (AP) — Jim Bunning allowed one hit, a ground smash past third base by Jim Wynn in the fifth inning, as the Houston 4-0 Monday night and regained first place in the National League.

The triumph lifted the Phillies 10 percentage points ahead of the San Francisco Giants and tagged still another loss on the Colts' Ken Johnson.

The Colts had difficulty getting hits and Johnson now is 3-4. In the four games he had lost, including a no-hitter, the Colts have supplied him with only two runs.

Besides Wynn, who led off the fifth with his hit, only one other runner reached base against Bunning. Nellie Fox was hit by a pitch in the first.

3-1 Record

Bunning, who brought hi. record to 3-1, got the only run he needed in the fourth inning when Wes Covington, John Hornstein and Bobby Wine singled.

Tobyhanna LL Winners

TOBYHANNA — Tobyhanna yesterday defeated Reiders in the opening of the Tobyhanna Little League by a score of 10-7.

Melvin Abel hit the only home run of the game for the winners. Jimmy Keiper, who pitched the first five innings, was credited with the win.

Wynning had had 10 unbeaten football teams since it first played the game in 1893.

Bears Win, 6 To 5

BROOKHEADSVILLE — Pleasant Valley came from behind to gain a 6-5 victory over Leighton yesterday by pushing across two runs in the bottom of the fifth to tie the score and add the winning marker in the sixth.

Ray Knecht and Lambert Murphy each collected two hits for the Bears of Coach Art Smith while Kenny Bowman was credited with the win.

Pleasant Valley gained a 3-0 lead in the first inning but fell behind by the fifth by a 5-3 count before the Bears started to find the range at the plate once again.

Murphy collected the only extra base hit of the game—a triple.

28 Horses Perish In Barn Fire

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Fire raced through 13 wooden barns at Miles Park Race Track Monday, causing the death of at least 28 thoroughbred horses.

General Manager Horace Wade said 23 horses died in the barns and five others were so seriously injured they had to be destroyed.

He estimated damage to the barns at $150,000. No figure was available on the value of the dead animals.

At one time about 250 horses were running loose on the grounds. Some got out of the track area and galloped down nearby streets and highways.

Grooms turned the horses out of their stalls a barn or two ahead of the spreading flames.

Wade said after surveying the damage there probably would be no postponement in the 50-day summer meeting scheduled to start Friday.

Pocono Mountain Goes To Pius X

ROSETO — Pius X won the first Pocono Mountain Baseball League trophy yesterday by turning back Pocono Catholic, 8-3, to avenge a previous loss to the Kingsmen.

Coach Vince Shemanski's Royals, who tallied a pair of runs in the first inning for a 2-0 lead, sewed it up early with a five-run burst in the bottom of the second.

A triple by Frank Godino, a double by Frank Zito and two safeties by Bill Curcio and Nick Parillo proved the death knell for the losers.

Godino carried the big stick for the Royals with three hits in four trips to the plate.

Parillo hauled the distance for the winners, yielding five hits while striking out 11 and walking but two batters.

Mike Ryan, tagged for 10 hits, also went the route and was charged with the loss.

For 500-Mile Race 'Old Dogs' Snarl At Starting Posts

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — You can teach a dog new tricks if he happens to be the mixture of pit bulldog and greyhound that makes up a great auto racer.

Three men over 40 have earned starting positions in the 48th 500-mile race May 30 at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway. All made fast qualifying runs over last weekend in cars entirely different from those they had driven before.

Rodger Ward, 43, Indianapolis, qualified for his 14th straight start in the Memorial Day classic in a rear-engine Watson-Ford. He had driven front-engine Offenhausers to two victories, a second, a third and fourth in the last five 500s.

Ward was the third-fastest qualifier at 156.406 miles per hour and will share the front row with Jimmy Clark and Bobby Marshman.

Walt Hansgen, 44, Bedminster, N. J., a luminary of the Sports Car Club of America but a stranger to the U. S. Auto Club's oval courses, qualified an unusual Hufaker — Offenhauser at 152.331. It has the liquid suspension used in British MG cars and the engine is mounted in the rear.

Don Branson, 43, Champaign, Ill., qualified for his sixth 500 start in a rear-engine Watson-Offenhauser at 152.672.

Pocono Mountain Is Track Winner

SWITZWATER — Pocono Mountain's thinclads evened their record at 2-2 yesterday with a 79-17 rout over North Pocono.

Ron Kochera and Mark Mikels were double winners for the Cards. Kochera claimed the mile run and the 880-yard dash, while Mikels was winner of the 100-yard dash and the 220.

100 — Mikels (PM), Blakeslee (PM), Leles (PM). Time: 10.7.
100 — Ron Kochera (PM), Wilbur (NP), Smith (PM). Time: 4:43.7.

Other Qualifiers

Other early qualifiers over 35 include Dick Rathmann, Roselle, Ill., 38; Johnny Boyd, Fresno, Calif., 37; Eddie Sachs, Detroit, 37; Bobby Grim, Indianapolis, 39; Bud Tingstad, Dayton, 36; Len Sutton, Portland, Ore., 38, and Lloyd Ruby, Wichita Falls, Tex., 36.

Only Sachs and Sutton of that group had to make the transition to new rear-engine cars, which Sachs said are "fantastically different to drive."

Clark is only 23 and Marshman 27 but the youngest drivers who made the field on the first weekend are rookie Dave MacDonald of El Monte, Calif., and Johnny Rutherford of Fort Worth, Tex., both 26.

Broad jump — Blakeslee (PM), Smith (PM), Pryor (PM). Distance: 18-7.
High jump — Barry Smith (PM) and Scheller (NP)—tie; Eggert (PM). Height: 5-1.
Discus — Kahl (PM), Jeffrey (NP), Derrick (PM). Distance: 110-0.
Shot put — Tom Derrick (PM), Antidorm (NP), Kahl (PM). Distance: 40-8 1/4.

Final Trials

Drivers who hope to make the line-up in the final trials next weekend include Duane Carter, 31, Cayuga, Calif., and Paul Russo, 50, Indianapolis. Carter has started in 11 of the Memorial Day classics. Russo, who crashed a Novi leading the 1956 race, has started 15 times.

Russo ran into complications Monday, however. He gave up the conventional Offenhauser he was ticketed to drive after failing to get it up to 150 miles per hour in attempted qualifying tests last weekend.

He has not obtained a new car.

If Russo makes the field for the 16th time, he will match the record shared by Cliff Bergers and the late Chet Miller, who died practicing in another Novi in 1953. Miller was 50 years old.

Mile relay — Pocono Mountain (Pryor, Hay, K. Mikels, Kochera). Time: 4:43.7.

New York Youth Shoots 4th Ace

ENDICOTT, N. Y. (AP) — His fourth hole-in-one and his third this year, at the age of 17?

"I don't believe it. It's beginning to scare me," said Denis Hall after finding his golf ball in the hole Sunday on the 300-yard 16th at the Ford Hill Golf Club in Whitney Point, north of here.

Barrett Lions Win LL Opener

CRESO — Barrett Rotary Lions yesterday opened the Pocono Mountain Little League season with a 12-7 victory over Marvin's TV.

Tommy Lewis, who went 4-for-4 at the plate, swatted the only home run of the game.

The winning pitcher, Jim Evans, hurled the first six innings, allowing 12 hits and striking out 11.

The par 4 hole is blind from the tee, and there's a dogleg left around a woods.

Mottola of nearby Endwell is a senior at Seton Catholic High School here. He drove his first hole-in-one when he was 13, also at Whitney Point, but on the 11th hole. He made two last month, one at Newark Valley and one at Windsor.

Warrior Netmen On Top

EAST STROUDSBURG — The tennis team of East Stroudsburg State College has been officially declared winners of the Pennsylvania State Colleges Athletic Conference, it was announced last night.

Confirmation was made by Merle Agnello, publicity director of the PSCAC.

The Warriors of Dr. Charles Wolters completed its second undefeated season last week, downing New Paltz, 8-1. The victory extended the ESSC winning streak to 21.

Dr. Wolters said of the team: "They bring distinction to the college as well as themselves. The title was well-earned and I congratulate each and every team member."

Two of the players, Ron Woods and Dick Baker, are candidates for the NCAC college tennis tournament at Colgate University.

FOR THE MAN WHO HAS EVERYTHING (well, almost)

Ever feel like getting away from it all and heading for the back country? It's the easiest thing in the world in a 'Jeep' Gladiator with a camper unit. Just pack up your gear for hunting, fishing, skiing, birdwatching, rock hunting or whatever your pleasure may be.

No need to worry about sleeping accommodations, either. They're right with you wherever you go to keep you snug, warm, dry and comfortable regardless of the weather.

And because it's attached to a 'Jeep' Gladiator, you can go wherever you like . . . places which might previously have been accessible only on foot or on horseback. The unit is removable, too. Whenever you require a workhorse of a pickup truck with a large bed and extra load carrying capacity, you have it.

Sound exciting? It is! It's available in either 2- or 4-wheel drive, in 7- or 8-foot length. Deluxe or standard. Why not see your 'Jeep' dealer today and have a look at the Gladiator with attached camper unit. Maybe you can become the man who has everything. (Well, almost.)

Cy Barrett Says

Nikita's Butterflies

By Cy Barrett, Jr.
DEAR CY:
My children chase butterflies and I feel there could be a profit in their hobby. The man at the hobby shop, where we buy supplies, told us, "Khrushchev's son is an avid butterfly collector and visited a butterfly supply house when visiting the United States with his father." Does young Khrushchev make things with the butterflies he collects?

MRS. BURNS

DEAR MRS. BURNS:
Sergei Khrushchev is a butterfly enthusiast or "lepidopterist." When in New York City with his Dad, the 25 year old butterfly chaser flew over to Flushing Meadows to see A.M. Glanz, president of Butterfly Art Jewelry, Inc. He gave Sergei an extensive collection in exchange for the promise of being sent Russian varieties.

After poking around in Mr. Glanz' 1,500,000 specimen inventory, Sergei returned to communism with a pretty fair idea of how efficiently capitalists can collect butterflies. In my opinion, butterflying is a "sleeper" among home enterprises. Although many decorators use wall decorations created with butterflies, opportunities for home workers are virtually untapped. Place mats, coasters, center pieces, coffee tables, dressing tables all can be made incorporating the insects.

Elliot Glanz, vice president of Butterfly Art, revealed to me, "Some charities and individuals already take butterfly specimens and mount them in pictures, selling them at a profit. There is a great deal of satisfaction to be gained from netting a perfect specimen. The ultimate satisfaction comes from skillfully mounting it and either selling or keeping the work."

Even if you buy the butterflies for pennies (and sell them mounted at a profit), Mrs. B., there should be plenty of fun in this, according to my book, P.S.: Sergei Khrushchev's old man has been adamant about the making a profit from his hobby.

DEAR CY:
Your article on services which help vacationers swap homes with others fascinated us. We want to exchange our home for two weeks this summer with a family in an interesting part of the country. We also might like to start such a service. How do home swap services get their clients? Are pets exchanged, too?

MARCIA AND MAX

DEAR M & M:
Mrs. Ingrid A. Shark, director of the Vacation Home Exchange Service (P. O. Box 2836, Washington, D.C.), says, "We have received most of our clients through classified ads in newspapers throughout the country."

On the pet angle, Mrs. David Ostroff, who heads the Vacation Home Exchange Club (534 Fifth Avenue, New York City), reports: "Yes, two of our clients swapped pets as well as homes. After their vacation, we got a letter from one of the dogs. The dog said she liked her real masters best but the exchange family treated her like a queen."

DEAR CY:

I am one of the legion of nuts who has his office at home, thinking the tax deduction is saving something. It may be money but not nerves! This morning, my wife asked me, "Watch the children for thirty minutes while I go grocery shopping."

As soon as she drove away from the house, my phone rang. In a black mood, and he asked me to see him "right away." I can tell you, Cy, it was touchy explaining I was baby sitting. My wife's car had a flat tire, so two hours later, I dragged into the customer's office. His business is still on the books, but tomorrow, I am leaving the house to rent outside office space.

DWINDLEY

DEAR DWINDLEY:
Anyone who doesn't believe absence makes hearts grow fonder should try officing away from home.

Top Professors Will Teach At ESSC This Summer

EAST STROUDSBURG — The graduate division of the Social Studies Department at East Stroudsburg State College will feature two outstanding visiting professors during the Summer session, they are Dr. Stanley Cohen of Princeton University and Dr. George Harmon of Lehigh University. Both will teach graduate courses.

Dr. Harmon, professor and former head of the History and Government Department at Lehigh University, will instruct the course titled "Case Studies in U.S. Constitutional History and Law." Dr. Harmon, a teacher and scholar of note, is a nationally known authority on Constitutional history.

Dr. Cohen, professor at Princeton University, is a recognized historian and authority on A. Mitchell Palmer - the political figure from Monroe County who had presidential aspirations. Cohen is the author of books and many articles. He is also the recipient of the Clark P. Ansley Award.

Persons interested in the courses being taught by the visiting professors or the graduate Social Studies program should contact Dr. Kurt Wimer, head of the Social Studies Department at ESSC.

Methodists To Include Negroes

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Philadelphia Methodist Conference has voted to invite the group's Negro churches within its area to become member churches.

Some 700 delegates, in conference since, also approved participation in civil rights demonstrations where legal recourse is inadequate, and voted to create a fund to back such activities.

CAP Charter Ceremony At SU

STROUDSBURG — Civil Air Patrol charter presentation ceremonies will be held Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in the Stroud Union High School.

Morris W. Frace is commandant of the Civil Air Patrol cadets. Charles Wyckoff is captain.

Federal Reserve Bank Explains Coins Shortage

STROUDSBURG — The Federal Reserve Bank of Philadelphia has issued a statement on the coin shortage in its coverage area.

A prepared statement from the bank which serves financial institutions in Monroe County said, "We regret to state that the shortage of coins has reached the point where this bank cannot be expected to meet fully at any given time requests for various denominations of coins.

"Our only source of coins is deposits from banks and the United States mints. Deposits received from banks have diminished to a mere trickle compared with those in the past and allocated to us by the mints fall below the quantities to meet requests from member banks.

"The coins we do receive are distributed as widely and equitably as possible to member banks.

"Our primary concern is to provide coins to banks as a medium of exchange to meet the needs of commerce and industry.

"The greatly increased use of coins by business, much wider interest in coin collecting by the general public, accumulation by speculators, and large inventories by those possessing sources of coins have all contributed to the existing shortage.

"Present mint facilities are not adequate to handle such demands and the Congress is considering bills for a new mint to provide increased coin production.

"We feel the inconvenience of the coin shortage will be with us for some time.

"We have asked banks not to provide coins to persons who would remove quantities from circulation.

"The Daily Record, on May 11, contacted banks in the area for statements regarding the coin shortage in the area.

Bankers generally agreed that there was a shortage in the area but that it was not too serious. They said that coins were coming into the Monroe County area from the toll bridge in Delaware Water Gap.

Bankers also agreed that the shortage is being caused by a large number of vending machines in operation in the area.

They also stated that the shortage would not be of any great length now that the mints have started work on a 24-hour basis.

Church Organist Resigns

BANGOR — The resignation of Miss Mona Rutt as organist and junior choir director was accepted with regret at a special meeting of the council of Trinity Lutheran Church, Bangor, this week.

Miss Rutt has served as organist for more than 25 years, having succeeded the late Howard Steinmetz after also serving as his assistant.

Her resignation is effective following the morning worship services of Sunday, June 26.

Council instructed the music committee to accept applications for the joint position of organist and choir director, including both senior and junior choirs.

The senior choir position has been vacant since the resignation of David Boiler several months ago. Applications will also be accepted for the organist and choir positions separately.

The Rev. William E. Dennis, pastor and council president, named the music committee to accept the applications. The committee includes Arthur Rutt, chairman; Harry Pate, Earl Kressler, Bryden Strunk, Wendell Miller.

House In Carbon Unveiling History

By Jim Shafer
Daily Record Reporter
LEHIGHTON — "You ain't seen nothing yet," could be the words of Richard G. W. Searles, of Palmerton, when he starts to give you a tour of his most recent holdings.

Searles, along with John Turtzo, of Bangor; Frank E. Welz, clerk of Carbon County courts, and several other Carbon County men, purchased the home of the late Judge Horace Heydt at Third and Alum Streets, Lehigh-

Rare Items

The house dates back to the late 1800s, but the items inside date back to the Revolutionary War in America.

Yesterday this reporter was given a tour of the three-story brick house. While going through the building and some of the contents recently uncovered, Searles opened one of several trunks in the attic, took articles from it and examined them.

Found in tube and rolled up in paper were several marriage licenses or birth certificates. They were hand written and hand drawn and were in excellent condition. One of the papers was dated 1770. All are written in German.

"See what I mean? Every time someone comes here to look at the place I get the urge to rummage through things. I have no idea what is here or its value," Searles said.

He is a certified public accountant, a real estate broker and operator of a loan company. This in itself is enough to keep any one man busy.

Want Accuracy
"Our plans, at least at this point, are to get the building in shape to operate from and then start on the job of cataloging everything here. We are in no hurry to do this as we want to be sure that we are accurate in the job," Searles said.

The building was purchased about six weeks ago and the first floor has become the offices for the loan company, real estate firm and Searles' CPA practice.

Among items already uncovered are many volumes of books, many with dates in the 1800s; and covering many subjects, pictures, family and scenic; furniture, dishes, imported and domestic; newspapers, many of which are long out of existence; cooking utensils, and tools.

The men purchased the house in a "package deal." They bought the property and its contents from Miss Ann Heydt, daughter of the late judge, for $25,000. The house sits on a plot of land just short of an acre.

Searles is very proud of the items uncovered thus far, and rightfully so, as within the house one can get a very comprehensive history of the Heydt family, Carbon County, events of bygone days, and a way of life that represented society in a high form.

History of Carbon
One of the interesting books shown to this writer was a two volume set of the history of Carbon County. In it is a biography of the judge.

The biography noted he was considered "one of the foremost representatives of the legal profession in the Lehigh Valley."

It also points out that he was born in Montgomery County in 1856, was graduated from Kutztown State Normal School in 1878, and Lafayette College in 1884.

Shortly after graduating from Lafayette he became a law student in the office of William G. Freyman, of Mauch Chunk (now Jim Thorpe) and in 1901 was appointed President Judge in Carbon County. He served this office until 1913.

"One of our early discoveries, after moving into the house, was a tuxedo worn by the judge and his robe worn while serving on the bench. Both are well preserved and look as if they just came back from the dry cleaner," Searles said.

One of the finds, now under study, is a letter to a mother in Carbon County. It does not mention her name, but expresses the sentiments of deep regret of the loss of her five sons in the Civil War. It bears the signature of Abraham Lincoln.

"We are not sure that President Lincoln signed the letter but we are going to have it studied. I have been told that he very seldom dated his letters, included the address of Washington, D. C., or signed his full name. Most of his letters were signed A. Lincoln. As you can see this has no date, no address but is signed in full," Searles said.

He continued, "There are so many things here and all have something to contribute, it will take years before we actually know what is here, its value, and perhaps its meaning."

Not For Sale
"For instance, the solid cherry side tray. One antique dealer has told me it is worth more than $1,000, but it's not for sale at any price."

"This edition of Pilgrim's Progress. It does not have a date but was sold only by subscription. We know it is old, but we don't know how old. It could very easily be a first edition. Look at the condition of the book. Except for the first several pages (torn loose from the binding) it is in very good shape.

"The other books, here is one to teach mental arithmetic and another arithmetic primer, have some religious books, and here are books printed in French, Latin and German, will take time to catalog.

"Miss Heydt must have been a well educated person, in fact the entire family must have been well educated.

"Here is a first edition of the complete English translation of Jean Anthelme Brillat-Savarin's 'Philosophy of Taste or Meditations of Transcendental Gastronomy.' It was printed in 1884.

"Savarin was a French lawyer, politician, magistrate and literary genius and claims in this book, 'Tell me what you eat and I will tell you what you are.'

"Another rare and no doubt valuable item is this map of the United States. It was drawn by John Melish in 1820 and approved by Congress. See how the land west of the Mississippi River is shown as territories?

"Here are some of the old newspapers. This is the Brother Jonathan of New York City. It was published weekly. Here are copies of the Mauch Chunk Courier and the Carbon County Gazette, and here is a copy of the Carbon Democrat."

"The Brother Jonathan is dated Feb. 25, 1855. The Gazette and Courier are dated Sept. 28, 1848. The Democrat is the youngest. It is dated March 30, 1867.

Salvation Army Schedules Three-Month Camp Season

STROUDSBURG — The Youth Committee of the Salvation Army Advisory Board set plans for the coming camping season this week. In past years sufficient funds have been raised to send a large number of boys and girls from the local Corps and Monroe County to the youth camp.

Mrs. Darrel Gehris, chairman of the Youth Committee, has sent letters to the Advisory Board and other organizations who have contributed for many years to the camping fund.

Schedule for the various camp groups have been set by Divisional Headquarters. Local youths will attend Camp Upland near Philadelphia, operated by the Salvation Army.

First period will be for Sunbeams, girls 6 to 11, from June 29 to July 3. Second Sunbeam period, July 3-7; Music Camp, July 7-17; Girl Scout period, July 20-27; and Boys Camp with special emphasis on Boy Scouts, July 27-Aug. 3.

Mrs. H. G. Baker will serve on the Guard Staff and Captain Jean Duncan on the Sunbeam staff. Candidate James Shotzberger, Scoutmaster of Troop 88, will be on the Boy Scout camp staff. A number of boys from Troop 88 will also attend one camp period at Camp Wygait.

Chamber Fete Off To Sept. 21

STROUDSBURG — Today's Pocono Mountain Chamber of Commerce, dinner meeting honoring Montgomery F. Crowe has been postponed until Sept. 21.

J. L. Cohen, president of the chamber, made the announcement.

The change of plans was made because Crowe, president of the chamber's industrial development agency, Pocono Mountain Industries, will be honored May 25 by the East Stroudsburg Exchange Club.

5,700 Case Backlog

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Administrative Judge Vincent A. Carroll announced Monday that seven criminal courts will hold sessions in Philadelphia during the summer months in an attempt to break the backlog of estimated 5,700 cases pending.

Stout Takes Part In Landing

ARCANI BAY, SARDINIA — Marine Pvt. 1-c James M. Stout, son of Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Stout of Pocono, participated in a sea assault landing exercise April 10 at Arcani Bay, Sardinia.

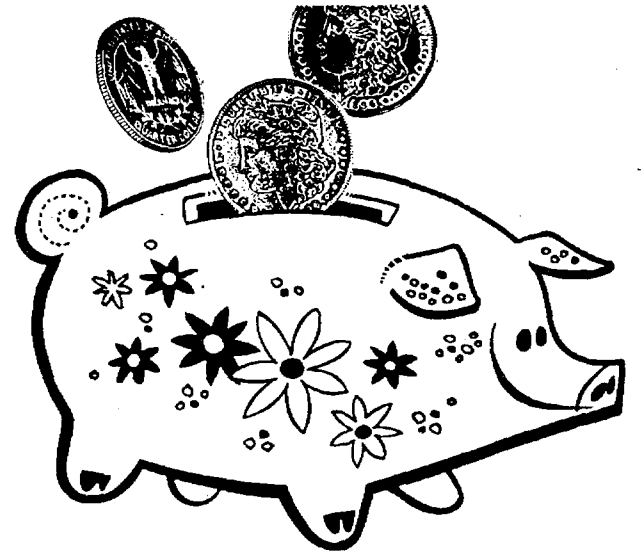

He was part of Marine Battalion Landing Team-18 with the sixth fleet in the Mediterranean. The team is the sea assault force of the sixth fleet. The unit is part of the large Mediterranean combat ready naval force which serves a deterrent to potential aggressors.

The team is scheduled to return to its home base at Camp Lejeune, N.C., in mid-June.
